RALPH McGILL

In the Manner Of General Lee

Now comes the rebuttal in the Great Debate.

There is no sound of trumpets in it. There is none with a voice which rings like a temple bell. There is no vibrant face, skilled in portraying emotions. No quiet smiles play across the face and no wistful lines tighten the lips to highlight a point. There are no scraps of quotations from Greek playwrights. There is no peroration based on an old Army song. And that may, or may not, be unfortunate. Only time will tell.

General of the Army George Marshall patiently rebutted, point by point, the testimony of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. He was pained to do the job because it was distasteful to him. But he did it.

Let us look at him.

He is that rare man who comes along, a great soldier but also a strategist. He is in his present position because he was called there. He was in retirement. He wanted to remain there. Yet, when they called him, he came.

In his plain, unaffected devotion to duty, he comes closest to General Robert E. Lee. Lee was not an orator. He, too, could not sway men with words and the accessories of histrionics. He could talk only in plain fashion. He offered integrity and truth.

It was George Marshall who directed the great global strategy of the recent world war. Of all those in command only he "knew where things were." He could, and did, think in terms of battle, raw materials, shipping and of supply. He could understand the political implications involved in North Africa, the French fleet, and all the invisible, intangible, yet very important, by-play between nations.

There are men who can think only in terms of the enemy and of striking him. The South ought to understand that well. Had it possessed men in its newly formed Confederate government who understood world politics, it would not have blundered and lost the great diplomatic and economic weapon of its monopoly on cotton and would have caused other nations to insist on freedom of its ports.

Orders

The emotionally blind will not see because they do not wish to see. But let every thoughtful American look at that portion of General George Marshall's testimony in which he said that "in the face of warnings against any direct action by General MacArthur looking toward an armistice, and in the face of prior information the President was working on the subject of peace negotiations and had about finished clearing his plan with 13 allied nations having troops in Korea, General MacArthur willfully, on March 13 publicly directed the enemy commander to meet him on the field to conclude a peace."

This destoyed any chance of negotiations looking toward a cease-fire.

The conclusion is inescapable. General MacArthur disobeyed. The presumption remains he was ambitious to have the whole glory of the settlement.

The Great Debate will continue

When it is done, those Americans with open minds will know the story. But, on both fringes, the emotionally blind will continue to cry and accuse, denounce and smear.

Chinese

What General George Marshall did not say and what must yet be said for the sake of public thinking, is this:

From a purely military viewpoint, our strategists caution against expanding the war along the MacArthur plan not because they think it would necessarily bring in the Russians, but because they have more long-term fears for the security of the United States if Russia remained out than if she quickly came to the side of China.

Quick intervention by Russia would enable us to withdraw immediately from Korea and deploy all our forces as seemed globally required.

Delayed intervention would mean more and more commitment in China, Manchuria and Korea, leaving Europe in dire straits.

There are many who think that General MacArthur's impulsive movement to the Manchurian border played into the hands of the Russians, who were looking for some way to involve us with Chinese manpower.

They believe the MacArthur plan will kill many more Americans—not less.

Who is right? None can say for sure.

But it is a time for thinking instead of choosing up sides on the basis of whether or not one likes Harry Truman.

UN Tells Israel, Syria to Halt Fight

By WALTER SULLIVAN
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LAKE SUCCESS, May 8—The United Nations Security Council Tuesday called on the "parties or persons concerned" in the Syri n-Israeli dispute to cease fighting. The vote was unanimous except for a Soviet abstention.

The action was taken following an array of charges and counter charges by Syria and Israel and the receipt of several reports from United Nations observers on the scene. The latter said they saw no Syrian soldiers in locations where Israel claimed Syrian troops were fighting. They reported, however, that Israeli troops came under mortar and machinegun fire.

Observers familiar with the area said it was difficult to evaluate the significance of this latter report. They said Arab irregulars in that area during the war between Israel and her neighbors were so equipped but that was some time ago and these forces had presumably dispersed.

REPORTS OF ARMING.

Abba S. Ebran for Israel told the council that his government received information some time ago concerning plans of the Syrian general staff to equip Arab "civilians" to fight in the demilitarized zone between the two countries. The fighting of recent weeks has been in and around this area.

After the council vote Maj. Gen. William E. Riley, United States Marine Corps, gave the council figures to show that a number of Arab inhabitants of the neutral zone had been removed to Israeli territory. He named Arab villages which he said had been "completely razed to the ground." General Riley is chief of staff of the United Nations truce organization in Palestine.

In view of the continuing conflict in that area the council did not act Monday on another resolution which has been drafted by Britain and the United States. The latter would refer the dispute back to the Syrian-Israeli mixed armistice commission with a time limit on its settlement in that forum.

AUTHORITY CHALLENGED

This resolution would also have reaffirmed the authority of General Riley and the chairman of the mixed armistice commission in the demilitarized zones. This authority has in part been challenged by Israel.

The approved resolution was sponsored by Britain, France, Turkey and the United States. It ran as follows:

The Security Council:

1. Recalling its resolutions of 15 July 1948, 11 August 1949, 17 November 1950.

2. Noting with concern that fighting has broken out in and around the demilitarized zone established by the Syrian-Israeli

Arias Offers Compromise In Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama, May 8—(U.P.)—President Arnulfo Arias, who assumed dictatorial powers, said Tuesday night in the face of swelling opposition that he was "willing to compromise to the degree of making a national (coalition) cabinet."

"But further I shall not go," he said.

Arias gathered with hundreds of his supporters at the presidential palace as a crowd estimated at 12,000 to 15,000 marched on the national police headquarters to protest the action he said he took because of the threat of Communism.

Deputy Norberto Navarro, who broke with Arias to form his own Independent Revolutionary Party, told the crowd he would lead the demonstration to the presidential palace and if necessary die in the front rank for the rights of the Panamanian people.

FIERY SPEECHES

Many other fiery speakers addressed the multitude before police headquarters, but followers of the President, apparently undismayed, were waiting patiently in the palace as a human barricade to preserve the life of their leader.

The medical profession struck today in protest because he dissolved Congress and revoked the 1946 Constitution by decree last night. The three main opposition parties called on the national police, Panama's sole armed force, to repudiate Arias' dictatorship.

Arias disavowed all personal ambition Tuesday night in an address to thousands of his supporters gathered in front of the palace. During a speech delivered from the balcony and broadcast nationwide, Arias, his voice shaking with emotion, dramatically tossed down to the crowd a silk sash bearing the presidential insignia.

ELECTIONS PROMISED

"Here it is," he said. "You are the only ones to decide who should wear this most honorable decoration."

When the doors to the palace were opened at the termination of the address, enthusiastic Arnulfistas trooped in and draped the sash around the President's shoulders.

In his speech, Arias said he will call for elections for a new assembly "which should meet Oct. 1." He said also that the cabinet will call a national plebiscite Wednesday to decide which constitution the people want.

Arias denied his motive in abolishing the Constitution was to lengthen his six-year term. The 1941 charter provides a six-year term, while the 1946 Constitution specifies four years.

BIRTHDAY CAKE
And President Truman

Truman, 67, Given Plea: Run Again

By W. H. LAWRENCE
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 8—President Truman celebrated his 67th birthday anniversary Tuesday and one of his presents was a public declaration by the Democratic national chairman that a majority of party leaders hoped he would be a candidate for re-election in 1952 because they believe he is the best bet to win.

It also was the sixth anniversary of Mr. Truman's happy proclamation of May 8, 1945, that the de facto German government had surrendered unconditionally to the forces of the United Nations, led by the United States the United Kingdom, and the Soviet Union. But the joy and hopes of that event long had passed. A large part of the President's busy day was concerned with new plans for checking, without a third world war, if possible, the continuing imperialistic designs of the Soviet Union, our former ally in the European victory.

For the President, the day was mostly work, mixed with a little pleasure. Daughter Margaret had timed her concert season to end so she could return to Washington for the family celebration.

William M. Boyle, Jr., Mr. Truman's personal choice for the job of Democratic chairman, provided the only news story of the day from the White House. He told reporters he'd called to wish the President a happy birthday and to report to him that a majority of Democratic leaders want him to seek a third term next year.

Mr. Truman already has said that he had made up his mind about what he will do next year but that he wasn't sharing the secret with anybody.

Boyle said he didn't have any better luck than the reporters in finding out what the President planned to do about running for another term. He said that the President naturally was pleased to hear the expression of confidence in him from other Democratic leaders but he didn't get the answer to the $64 question.

The birthday celebration began as soon as the President reached the White House executive offices Tuesday morning.

Employees at the White House as a group gave him 67 red roses—one for each year—and also presented a gavel made from wood taken from the White House proper, now in the process of reconstruction. William Simmons, White House receptionist, brought the President's favorite cake—an angel food—which Mrs. Simmons bakes every year for this occasion.

Tuesday night the President dined with Mrs. Truman and Margaret. The family presents were kept secret.

Strikers Riot In Spain Over Living Costs

PAMPLONA, Spain, May 8—(AP)—Civil guardsmen fired tommy guns into the air Tuesday night to halt demonstrations of strikers in Pamlona.

Many persons were injured by blows from police nightsticks during the sporadic fighting in many parts of the city. The battling climaxed a general strike in protest against the rising cost of living.

(In Madrid, there were reliable reports that troops had been sent to Bilbao in preparation for possible disorders there.)

The strike was still continuing at about 8 p. m. Tuesday. All theaters, movies, cafes were closed and the transport service was halted.

There was no indication whether it would go on Wednesday in defiance of Civil Governor Luis Vaerlo Bermejo's threat that those still away from their jobs would be fired.

About 30,000 workers are involved in the general walk-out. Angry crowds stoned the food ration office earlier in the day.

Civil and armed guards patrolled the streets.

Negro Housing Project Pact Sets Record at $8,653,000

Contract for a 900-unit, $10,000,000 housing project for Negroes—the largest ever granted in Atlanta—was awarded Tuesday to the J. A. Jones Construction Company by the Atlanta Housing Authority.

The development which will be known as the Carver Community project, will occupy a 107.7-acre tract north of Lakewood Park, adjacent to the Carver Community School on Pryor Road, Southwest.

The contract price was $8,653,500 subject to approval of the Public Housing Administration in Washington. The Authority paid the city $115,000 for the land.

James H. Therrell, Executive Director for the housing group, said the project is the first of two similar undertakings in the area, adding "we are now working on plans for the second development which will extend to Jonesboro Road."

When the Carver project is finished, the Atlanta authority will have supervision over projects which cost $31,000,000 to build and furnish. The various projects will have 5,986 units, of which 3,019 will be for Negroes.

Jones Construction Company was the lowest of five bidders. Thompson & Street, of Atlanta, were second low, asking $8,879,630; Beers Construction Company, of Atlanta, was third with a bid of $9,050,000; J. W. Bateson Construction Company, Inc., of Dallas, Texas, was fourth with a bid of $9,126,905 and T. C. Bateson Construction Company, also of Dallas, fifth with a bid of $9,595,000.

Therrell and other members of the Housing Authority regarded the bids as good. Therrell said the authority had $9,105,000 earmarked for construction, and expressed gratification that the low bid was under this figure.

UN Drives 17-20 Miles Above Seoul

Red Central, East Defenses Blasted

By DON HUTH

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 9—(AP)—Strong Allied units punched northward Tuesday in a double-barreled advance that carried 17 to 20 miles above once-threatened Seoul on the western Korean front.

Heavily supported by air and artillery, other United Nations forces chewed up Chinese and North Korean outpost defenses on the central and eastern fronts.

Nearly half the ground lost when the Communists launched their ill-fated April 22 offensive has been regained along the 100-mile wide battlefront. The Red drive bogged down after seven days of human-sea attacks.

CLUMSY FIGHTING

Now the Communists were battling clumsily, like a punch-drunk fighter struggling for time to regain strength. The Reds stepped up their artillery and mortar attacks. Roads were strewn with Red minefields.

On the far western front South Korean troops gained five miles in two days, shoving the Reds north of the Kongnung River, a tributary of the Han River. AP Correspondent John Randolph said Communist resistance stiffened at this point, some 17 miles northwest of Seoul.

TANKS CLANK NORTH

Driving due north of the battered old Korean capital, Allied tanks clanked 20 miles up the important Uijongbu highway. Red mines littering the road were cleared ahead of the armored giants.

On the central front more Allied tank-infantry patrols crunched over dusty trails north of Chunchon, a no-man's town abandoned by the Allies and deserted by the Chinese.

It was the second straight day UN patrols passed through that devastated transportation hub, eight miles south of Parallel 38, in search of Red concentrations to the north.

Chinese artillery opened up Tuesday night on Allied positions both north and east of Chunchon.

Tariff Cuts Granted 17 Nations

By FELIX BELAIR
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 8—A major revision of the American tariff structure providing new low rates on dutable imports that accounted for about 16 percent of the 1949 value of total United States purchases abroad were announced by the State Department Tuesday under the Torquay protocol.

An analysis of the agreements covering reciprocal concessions between the United States and 17 foreign countries showed 1,325 tariff items that were either sharply reduced or "bound" at previously negotiated low levels or in their duty-free classification.

FOR WORLD TRADE

The agreements were described by the State Department as "a very substantial advance in the field of international trade relations," notwithstanding Great Britain's refusal to modify its imperial preference tariff system prescribing a substantially lower set of duties for commonwealth countries than for all others.

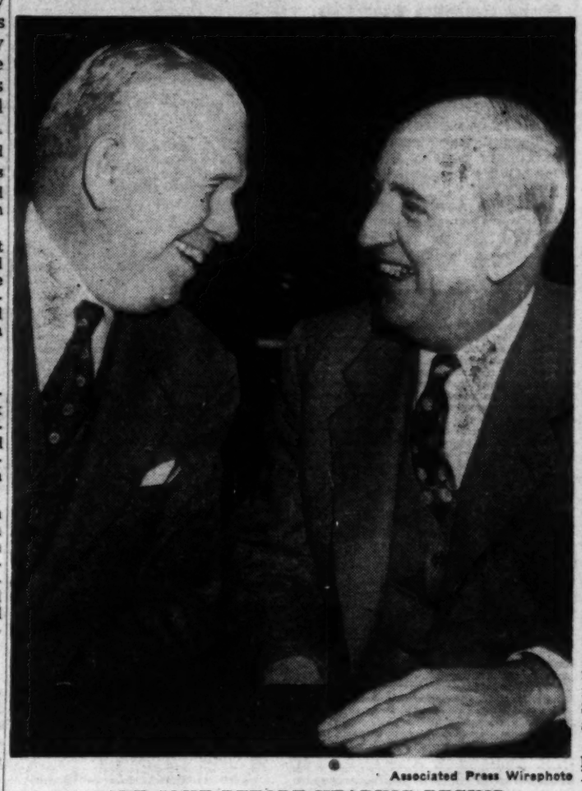

A statement by the department on the results of eight months of negotiation at Torquay, England, said on this point that "the United States was not able to find a basis for expanding the existing range of concessions in the general agreement with regard to Australia, Cuba, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, the United Kingdom and India."

EXPORTS BENEFITED

On the basis of 1949 foreign trade, it was estimated that tariff concessions received by the United States in the negotiations would facilitate exports of items in which this country had a total trade of about $1,100,000,000. On the same basis, concessions to this

Fears Morale Of GIs Hurt By M'Arthur

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 8—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was accused Tuesday of harming the Allied position in Korea by emphasizing the casualties among American troops and by implying that they were dying "without justified purpose."

Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall made his charge in testifying for the second day before Senate committees investigating President Truman's recall of Gen. MacArthur from his Far East commands.

The secretary asserted as well that this was a time of great tension, in which there was a "very real possibility" that the Russians might so intervene in Korea as to force major war upon the United States. "Considerable" Soviet air and troop strength, he said, was concentrated about the Korean peninsula from Vladivostok to Darien.

He will take the stand again Thursday.

WAR NOW AVOIDABLE

Summing up the whole of the administration's argument for a limited commitment to Korea and its insistence that the harder actions proposed by Gen. MacArthur might have incited the Russians and lost the United States its allies, Sec. Marshall told the committees:

"We might easily be forced into action (against the Soviet) and are prepared to take that action; but it is avoidable up to the present time. It may not be avoidable tomorrow but it is avoidable at the present time, and we have to relate that to the opinion of many other countries, many other peoples that are involved in this same struggle."

ATTACKS MORALE CUTTING

Striking at Gen MacArthur, the secretary, who also is a general of the Army, declared:

"They (the American forces in Korea) have made a magnificent response and I was told only this morning that the last reports indicated a very high morale, which is the most important factor, however you approach it, in bringing the operation to a successful conclusion."

Obviously speaking then for the fact that Gen. MacArthur in his

Southern Bell Offers Pay Boosts to 45,000

The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company Tuesday offered more than 45,000 non-supervisory telephone workers in its nine-state area pay increases which it said ranged mostly from $3 to $6 a week.

The Communications Workers of America—CIO said it has taken the wage offer under consideration and when it has been computed "on the basis of what it will mean to the workers involved" a decision will be reached.

The union, in its statement, said the pay hikes ranged from "exactly $2 to exactly $6 per week."

PRESENT CONTRACT

The company said its statement of $3 to $6 was based on the fact that most of the increases will come within that range, although there will be some $2 hikes.

Negotiations for a continuance of the present contract another year will be resumed Wednesday, both company and union officials announced. The present contract is three years old. It was originally drawn up following a lengthy strike of telephone workers.

G. D. Garner, vice president for personnel for Southern Bell, said the proposal conforms to the Government's wage stabilization program and will add approximately $10,000,000 a year to the company's labor costs and that the money to pay these and other increased costs will have to be obtained through increases in telephone rates.

Sam E. Sims, chairman of the union's bargaining committee, said, in this regard, "the union will be highly interested in whether the company offer comes up to the maximum allowable under the stabilization regulations," adding it will take time to analyze the offer thoroughly before a decision is made.

NECESSARY CHANGES

Sims said the union has "found numerous provisions (in the present contract) which are in need of revision" and that bargaining will continue for the necessary changes.

The company, in its statement, proposes that the present agree-

More Guard Calls Forecast

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—United States strength overseas may soon be reinforced by additional guard divisions, the acting chief of the National Guard Bureau said Tuesday.

Maj. Gen. Raymond H. Fleming also disclosed that the Army may call more National Guard divisions to active service after July.

Fleming said in a text prepared for broadcasting on a "Time for Defense" radio program that federalization of six guard divisions, two regimental combat teams and numerous smaller units left "over 250,000 Army guardsmen remaining at their home stations."

Two Guards divisions, the 40th from California and the 45th from Oklahoma, recently arrived in Japan.

Van Fleet Decorates Six From Heroic British Unit

By GREG MACGREGOR
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Wednesday, May 9—In the shadow of a bombed out former industrial school, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, new commander of the United Nations ground forces in Korea, quietly paid tribute Tuesday to the memory of the heroic members of a Gloucestershire battalion lost on April 22, 23 and 24. He addressed about 250 officers and men of the British 29th brigade who stood in motionless formations in honor of their fallen comrades.

The General's entrance to the improvised parade ground was heralded by skirling bagpipes of the kilted Royal Ulster pipers who played "South Down Militia." Gen. Van Fleet walked with extended hand toward Brigadier Tom Brodie, commander of the brigade and said, "I am sorry I have not been here to see you sooner. I knew you've been in some pretty difficult positions."

The ceremony was held to present the few remaining Gloucesters with a presidential unit citation for their courageous stand, which aided greatly in smashing the massive Chinese offensive. Only 45 men fought their way back to the Allied lines out of approximately 600. In reference to the action, Gen. Van Fleet said:

"Their epic stand will go down as one of the most valiant in modern times. British commonweath forces are part of our fine fighting team in Korea and have played an important and heroic part in stemming the great Chinese offensive which started on the night of April 22."

When the enemy first launched the offensive, the 29th Brigade was in position between the first ROK and the Third United States Divisions, Athwart the famous Uijongbu-Seoul axis and felt the full impact of the Chinese massive frontal attack, he told the assembled warriors.

"The brigade held its position against extremely heavy odds for three consecutive days," he said, "giving no ground and inflicting a heavy toll of enemy casualties. Their firm stand upset the Chinese timetable of advance and permitted the other United Nations troops

Soviet Rearmament Hit by U. S. at Paris

Jessup Demands 'Yes or No' On Big 4 Minister Parley

By JOHN E. LEE

PARIS, May 8—(INS)—The United States denounced Soviet rearmament and Communist aggression in Asia Tuesday night and asked Russia for a "yes or no" answer on the proposed Big Four foreign ministers' conference aimed at the world crisis.

U. S. Delegate Philip C. Jessup accused Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko of using "illusory and deceitful" tactics in the deadlocked conversations by Big Four deputies trying to agree on an agenda for such a conference.

Tuesday's fruitless session in the negotiations that began March 5 in Paris lasted only 45 minutes. The deputies will meet again Wednesday.

INSISTS ON PRIORITY

Gromyko still insisted that priority on any agenda be given to the Russian proposal for a proportionate Big Four arms reduction. The United States, Britain and France, said that a discussion of the present level of existing armaments in Europe must be discussed first.

Jessup told Gromyko that his plan was illusory and deceitful and that the United States would not be a party to any such deceit. He added that the United States also would not agree to reduce its armaments while Russia remained free to increase her own military strength through the Soviet satellite states.

Jessup said the Western Allies would not consider a binding agreement on armaments before knowing whether the Soviets were prepared to accept strict controls.

"CHILDISH"

The American delegate termed some of Gromyko's arguments about the armaments situation as "childish nonsense." Then Jessup added:

"Western defense measures will continue as long as our security is threatened . . . by the Soviet's huge armed forces, by other armies supporting the Soviet Union, both in Europe and Asia, and by the policy supporting those armies."

The mention of Asia was an obvious reference to Moscow-allied Red China's aggression in Korea.

Jessup then asked Gromyko "does the Soviet government refuse to participate in a meeting of the four ministers or not?"

Gromyko's only reply to Jessup was that the American's statement was "unworthy of comment." He said, just before adjournment, that he reserved the right to say something about it at a later date.

Year in Prison Worth $500, Senators Find

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 8—(AP)—Would you spend a year in prison for $500?

That's what a Florida Senate committee figures its worth.

L. D. Chitty, a fruit buyer, pleaded guilty in 1947 to a charge of passing a worthless check. The judge sentenced him to two years in prison and Chitty served his time.

Then it was discovered the maximum penalty in Florida for Chitty's offense is one year.

Sen. Baynard introduced a bill for the state to pay Chitty $15,000 for the extra year. The committee cut the sum to $500.

U. S. Rejects Soviet Plea In Jap Pact

WASHINGTON, May 8—(U.P.)—The United States Tuesday rejected Russia's proposal to give Communist China a voice in drafting a Japanese peace treaty and accused the Kremlin of seeking a "double veto" over a Pacific peace.

It also made clear this country will continue with its present treaty-writing plans — with or without Russia—unless the Soviets accept the principle of broad negotiations among all the wartime Pacific allies.

The Soviet proposal, handed to U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk in Moscow Monday, urged the treaty be drafted by a council of Foreign Ministers made up of Russia, the United States, Great Britain and Red China.

LARGELY PROPAGANDA

State Department spokesman Michael J. McDermott termed the offer largely propaganda. He said the proposal is an old one which Russia "makes periodically whenever it wants to stall the conclusion of a Japanese peace."

"It always has been rejected and will be again," McDermott asserted in a special statement. "The Soviet effort is to get a veto and now, through Communist China, a double veto on a Japanese peace."

"It is a mockery to pretend that to negotiate a Japanese peace under these conditions would actually produce peace."

A copy of the Russian proposal was delivered to the State Department Tuesday. While McDermott's statement was an informal rejection, he said the United States will answer the Soviet proposal formally and fully "in due course."

SPLIT ON METHOD

Russia and the United States split on the method of writing a Japanese treaty in 1947.

The United States had suggested that the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission, which includes Russia, should write the pact. But Moscow countered with a proposal that the job be handled by the big four powers—Russia, Britain, France and the United States.

The United States now is discussing the matter with 15 nations, including Russia but excluding Red China.

Britain also was expected to reject the Russian plan although it has suggested that the Chinese Reds be allowed to help write a treaty and eventually get Formosa.

New Yorkers Stranded by Lift Strike

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—The people who man New York's towering business skyscrapers went on strike Tuesday, stranding thousands of office workers high above Manhattan.

With elevators out of service, lunch hour throngs trudged down and back up many flights of stairs. Some, however, just sat the whole thing out in their offices.

About 100 office buildings were affected at the height of the walkout.

By mid-afternoon, service was resumed in all but about 30 buildings as wage and welfare demands were settled.

About 500 elevator operators, porters, janitors and other service employees were involved. They belong to the AFL Building Service Workers Union.

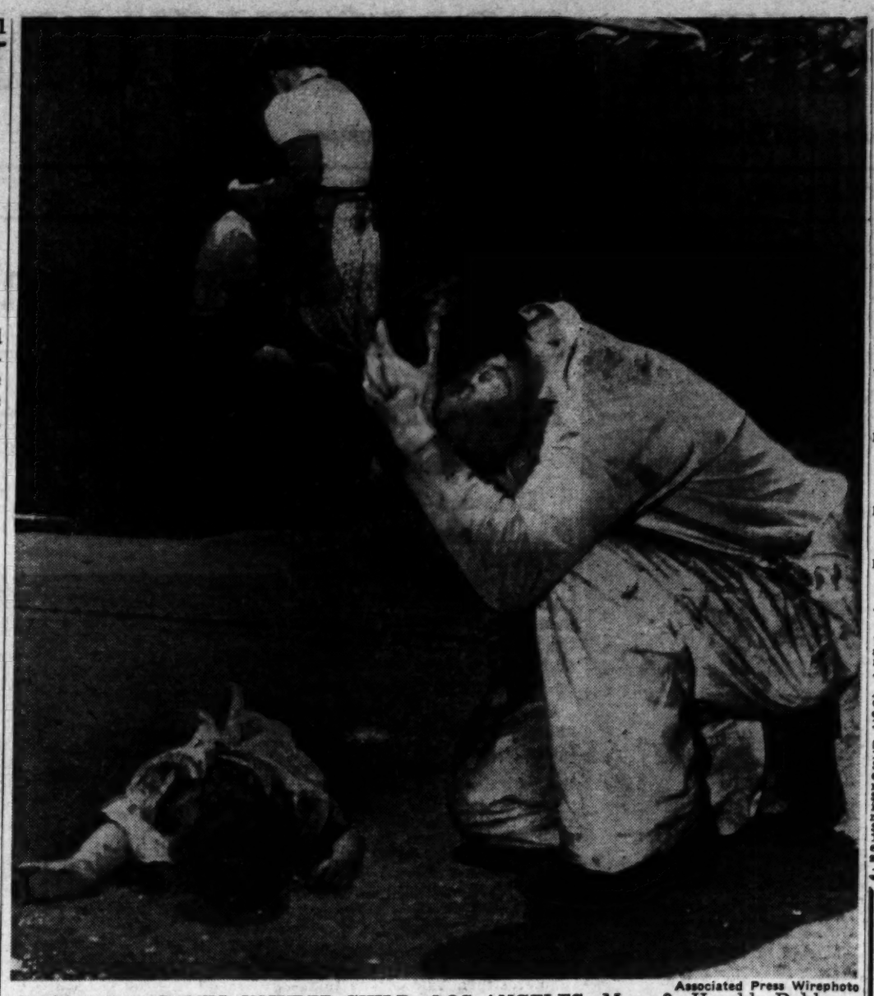

They demanded a $4 a week wage increase, plus $1 in welfare benefits. Present wages run from $50 to $58.83 a week.

The wage-welfare pattern was set last January in contracts signed with several hundred building operators. However, the struck skyscrapers were among holdouts who refused to meet the pattern.

The Union said the strike brought the holdout operators "into headquarters with contracts like crazy."

The city's biggest skyscrapers —the Empire State, Chrysler Building and Rockefeller Center— were not affected by the service strike. Neither were hotels.

Pickets were posted outside some big buildings.

Organist Fox Closes Season In Fine Style

By HOWELL JONES

Virgil Fox, Atlanta's favorite organ recitalist, Tuesday night concluded the 1950-51 season of concerts sponsored by the Georgia Chapter of the American Guild of Organists with an outstanding program of organ music.

Fox, who has appeared in Atlanta each season for several years, won many enthusiastic demonstrations from a large audience in Agnes Scott's Presser Hall.

His playing, as usual, was marked by scholarly understanding of music and genuine virtuosity. His program construction allowed him ample material to demonstrate his ability to best advantage and at the same time delight his listeners with beautiful music.

The program, presented in three sections, was highlighted by the playing of Bach's "Fantasy and Fugue in G-Minor," and Cesar Franck's "Chorale in A-Minor."

Mozart's dynamic but restrained "Ave Verum" also was a high spot in the long program.

Fox opened the concert with an interpretation of Mozart's "Fantasy," after which the other Mozart score and Bach's Fantasy were given.

The second section included Vierne's "Clair de Lune," a substitute score by the American composer Seth Bingham and the Frank Chorale. Max Reger's "Fantazie and Fugue on the Chorale 'How Brightly Shines the Morning Star'," concluded the recital.

O'Dwyer's Pal, Moran, Is Convicted

By RICHARD H. PARKE

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, May 8—James J. Moran, former New York water supply commissioner and close friend of former Mayor William O'Dwyer, was convicted of perjury in Federal court here Tuesday.

A jury of seven women and five men found him guilty of having lied under oath on March 16 to the Senate Crime Investigating Committee. He testified then that when he was first deputy fire commissioner he received only three or five visits in his office from Louis Weber, Brooklyn policy figure.

James Moran

The 49-year-old Moran, who is the first Kefauver committee witness to be brought to trial here, took the verdict stoically. But as he left the courtroom, his face grew ashen and his attorney Joseph L. Delaney, took him by the arm and led him down to rear stairway.

The jury reached its verdict after deliberating for 100 minutes, exclusive of a lunch period of about 75 minutes. Judge Charles A. Dewey will pronounce sentence at 10 a. m. on Friday. Moran was convicted of one perjury count—two others having been stricken by the court from the indictment—and faces a maximum sentence of five years in jail and $2,000 fine.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Eugene F. Roth, who conducted the prosecution for the government, asked Judge Dewey to have the defendant remanded and his bail of $25,000 cancelled pending imposition of sentence. The prosecutor remarked that "it is the policy of the United States attorney's office to remand defendants promptly after conviction."

Before he left the courtroom, Moran was asked for comment. "I have nothing to say," he said, angrily. His attorney told newspapermen that he would avise his client to appeal the conviction.

20 N. Y. Police Named Plotters

NEW YORK, May 8—(U.P.)—At least 20 New York city policemen were indicted by a Brooklyn grand jury Tuesday on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice in a million-dollar gambling protection scandal.

A sealed indictment, handed to Kings County Judge Samuel Liebowitz, accused "20 to 22" policemen of conspiracy in the climax to an 18-month investigation into a $20,000,000-a-year gambling combine which paid five percent of its profits to police.

An exact count of the policemen was not given.

Gambler Harry Gross, who said he paid the $1,000,000 as protection money for his bookie business, and his chief lieutenant, Morton Kapelsohn, both testified before the grand jury.

Iran Reds Demand U.S. Group Out

Premier Asked To Nod to China

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

TEHRAN, Iran, May 8—(AP)—An emboldened Tudeh (Communist) Party Tuesday made seven demands on Premier Mohammed Mossadegh that included expulsion of the 25-man U. S. military mission to Iran.

The other six demands, contained in an open letter to the Premier, were:

1. Legalization of the Tudeh party, outlawed since the attempted assassination of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi in February, 1949.
2. Recognition of Red China.
3. Rejection of foreign arms aid.
4. Release of political prisoners.
5. An end to martial law in the southern oil fields.
6. Nationalization of the Bahrein oil fields, where the American-owned Bahrein Petroleum Company is producing 10,000,000 barrels of oil a year.

The Bahrein islands in the Persian Gulf are claimed by Iran, but are governed by a sheik under a British protectorate. The company which has the oil concession there is owned by Standard Oil Company of California and the Texas Corporation.

The Tudeh party apparently was encouraged to make its demands by reports the Premier favors legalizing the Communists so their activities can be brought into the open. The party now operates underground.

He also is on record as being against foreign aid of any kind. Besides the military mission here advising the Iranian army, the U. S. has sent some shipments of tanks and other arms, has granted $500,000 for "point four" technical assistance and has offered a $25,000,000 import-export bank loan.

Girls' Home Chief Replies To Judge

The pregnant women placed in a children's boarding home in Augusta were adults, and not girls under 17 years of age as the Richmond County Juvenile Court Judge and Probation Officer contended, the former operator of the home said.

The Augusta Chronicle quoted Mrs. Dessa Epps, former operator of the home, as declaring that one of the women was 38. She said she could name seven who were more than 17.

Judge H. A. Woodward and Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, probation officer, had told The Constitution the pregnant women placed in the children's boarding home were juveniles, for whom the Juvenile Court was responsible.

A special Senate-House Committee investigating the state's welfare program has invited Judge Woodward and Miss Hamilton to appear and give statements on the operation of the home, which was closed in February. The committee recently heard a Chronicle reporter read statements that pregnant women were placed in the children's home after signing papers to put their children up for adoption; that some were from other states; and the children were sent to New York, California, and other states for adoption.

Bobo, Jones Seek Offices In 8th Ward

Two new candidates have announced for the three councilmanic posts for the newly created Eighth Ward. They said they would enter the Sept. 12 primary.

Tom W. Bobo, Sr., insurance man from Grove Park, said he will seek the aldermanic position, while E. Sam Jones, Buckhead businessman, said he will be a candidate for one of the three seats in city council. He said he would decide later whether he would run as alderman or councilman.

Bobo is a Marine veteran, and is chairman of the Grove Park Recreation Board. He helped organize the West Fulton Lions Club, the West Fulton Business Men's Association and the Northwest Fulton News. He is a member of the Fortified Hills Baptist Church, and said he will seek some long-neglected improvements for the area.

The candidate lives at 648 Francis Pl., N. W.

Jones is a graduate of Georgia Tech. During World War II, he served with the Air Force in the Far East. He operates a hardware and general merchandise business, an automobile repair shop and the Jones Machinery Co. He is active in the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Travelers Protective Association and other organizations.

Miss Anna Lord Strauss, executive vice chairman of President Truman's Commission on Internal Security and Individual Rights and former national president of the League of Women Voters, will address the Georgia League's council at a dinner meeting Thursday at 7 p. m. at the Henry Grady Hotel.

Miss Strauss

Miss Strauss, former managing editor of Century Magazine, shared with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in 1948 the honor of receiving the M. Carey Thomas award given by Bryn Mawr college for "outstanding achievement among women in the international relations field."

The League of Women Voters State Council, composed of representatives of all the Leagues in Georgia, will begin its sessions Thursday afternoon and continue through noon Friday.

Episcopal Foundation Is Favored

The Advisory Board of the Episcopal Church for the Diocese of Atlanta Tuesday authorized setting up of a Georgia corporation, the Diocesan Foundation, Inc., "to operate for the advancement of the Episcopal Church."

Actual establishment of the Foundation is contingent upon its approval by the Council of the Diocese, currently holding its forty-fourth annual meeting here. Approval is considered virtually automatic.

APPROVAL EXPECTED

If the expected approval is forthcoming Wednesday, Bishop John Moore Walker; Atlantan Frank Troutman, board chairman, and William C. Turpin, of Macon, will file a petition for charter.

The Foundation will be directed by the Bishop of Atlanta and seven laymen, elected by the Board on nomination of the Bishop.

Charter trustees elected here Tuesday are Herbert Birdsey, Macon; Rutherford Ellis, of Atlanta; John J. Wilkins, of Athens; Frank Bone, of Milledgeville; Gunby Jordan, of Columbus; Dr. Enoch Callaway, of LaGrange, and R. L. Shapard, Jr., of Griffin.

The Advisory Board includes 22 Episcopal laymen and 11 clergymen from the state.

Troutman said the Foundation's activities will include "not only physical properties of the church, but spiritual ministrations." Trustees will have sole management of the corporation and its funds. The non-profit charitable institution for educational purposes will serve in the Diocese covering the northern section of the state.

Troutman added the Foundation "would eliminate the necessity of continuous fund-raising drives for various purposes."

AUXILIARY MEETS

The Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary, meeting simultaneously, Tuesday heard the Rev. Robert C. Fletcher, missionary in the Province of Sewanee, discuss his work among the deaf and handicapped. A handicapped person himself, the missionary is blind in one eye and cannot hear.

Bishop Walker was honored with a dinner at 6 p. m. and spoke at 8 p. m. services at the church.

The Diocesan Executive Board heard reports from various committees Tuesday. A Finance Committee, headed by Bone, will recommend "a considerable increase" in 1952 budget of the diocese. Committeemen declined to state the new figure. The budget for 1951 was $105,495.91.

Both groups will end meetings Wednesday.

Kremlin Suffering, Too, Gen. Marshall Sums Up

'Quick and Decisive' Solution To Our Troubles Ruled Out

own testimony had repeatedly referred to the "slaughter" in Korea, as the consequence of a "soft" American military policy, Gen Marshall went on:

"But I am disturbed and I should think you would be disturbed at the effect that will sweep through that American force of a situation in which their commander has stated his views which accentuate the casualties that they are suffering and in effect that it is without justified purpose.

"That is not only one time, but a number of times; and the effect of the fact that their commander has been in complete disagreement with the constituted authorities of this government, that is a most serious matter, and we should find some way of proceeding with this investigation that does not destroy us in the field by serious reaction in the way of morale."

Sec. Marshall spoke of many highly secret matters and there were many censors' deletions from the transcripts provided to the press.

Again, so far as publishable information indicated, he gave no hope for an early end to the Korean conflict unless it came through the heavy destruction of trained Chinese Communist forces which might force the Communists to sue for peace.

SAYS CHINESE WEAKENING

Still, he said in effect, this should not be considered too remote a contingency. Already, he testified, four Chinese Communist army groups—a vast, though variable, force which in Western terms would imply several hundreds of thousands—had been cut up by the United Nations troops at a cost, in American casualties, of 10,000 dead and 50,000 wounded or missing.

Of the enemy he remarked: "We have filled the hospitals all over China."

Moreover, he added, American casualties were falling rather than rising and there was good reason to hope that such figures as were now published—60,000 combat casualties—would not recur.

As to Gen. MarArthur's complaint that he had not been able to bomb the Chinese bases beyond Korea, Sec. Marshall asserted, first, that the gain was not worth the risk and, second, that enemy air action against our forces had done no "material harm" to them on the ground.

REVEALS SOVIET MASSING

As for the massing of Soviet strength near Korea, Gen. Marshall said the Defense Department had reports of "steady" concentration of Russian armed power in that area.

This information contained evidence that troops and "thousands" of planes were based in Siberia, the Sakhalin Islands, north of Japan, and in Harbin, Port Arthur and Dairen, the general told the Senators.

Armed forces and planes in these Soviet positions would represent a possible threat to Japan, and also Okinawa.

It is known that among the troops in the Sakhalins are ex-Japanese prisoners that have become indoctrinated Communists, and thus it is possible that the Russians could attempt an invasion of Japan with Japanese troops.

Under cross-examination by Sen. Styles Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, Gen. Marshall rejected a widely held Republican contention that the military authorities of the country had been compelled to give way to Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

MacARTHUR 'INSUBORDINATE'

In his experience as Secretary of Defense, Gen. Marshall declared he could recall no instance when President Truman had overruled the military in behalf of a position wanted by the State Department.

While he agreed with Bridges that the duty of any officer was first to his country, and not to his commander in chief, the secretary many times asserted in effect that Gen. MacArthur had crossed the last line of insubordination.

He declared that the difference between Gen. MacArthur and General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower was that General Eisenhower would not rebel, even in a matter of policy.

To one of Sen. Bridges' questions, Sec. Marshall said he had no doubt that if Gen. Eisenhower should return from Europe, where he is supreme Allied commander of the North Atlantic Pact countries, and strike at the policy of the alliance he would be relieved.

On his own part Gen. Marshall recalled that as Army chief of staff he had many "difficult scenes" with the late President Roosevelt in the early days of the second world war.

Still, he observed, he had made "no public speeches" about these disagreements, and would have felt quite unable to do so. Eventually, he said, he so obtained Mr. Roosevelt's confidence that there was no debate "whatsoever" between them.

To illustrate what he considered a model of military behavior, he told the committees that President Woodrow Wilson had put upon the late General of the Armies John J. Pershing in Mexico in 1916 such great limitations as to forbid him the use of the railroads.

Eventually, Sec. Marshall went on, Gen. Pershing even was ordered to call off his close pursuit of the bandit Pancho Villa and had done so without a word of protest to his staff though he had walked about his tent all one night. When an officer reached the point where in honor and in conscience he could no longer support the policy of his superiors, Gen. Marshall suggested, then he ought to resign before putting his case to the public.

He disclosed that in the conference between President Truman, himself, Sec. Acheson and others that led to the decision to recall Gen. MacArthur as United Nations commander there had been some thought of leaving him as the supreme occupation authority over Japan.

But, said Gen. Marshall, it was decided on reflection that this would have made untenable the position of Gen. MacArthur's successor, Lieut. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who would have had to command in Korea without ultimate authority over his base in Japan.

BLOCKADE BETTERED

Sec. Marshall said he had no knowledge of what Sen. Bridges called a reported order to all military officers not to discuss publicly the MacArthur episode.

To Republican questions concerning the flow of supplies to Communist China, the secretary said that the British had now "indicated" that they would go along with an international embargo of Communist China.

This, he added, would make "almost academic" another of the past recommendations of Gen. MacArthur—that a naval blockade be thrown about the Chinese Communists.

Discussing what he termed another hypothetical matter, Gen. Marshall agreed that he would support Gen. MacArthur's recommendation for bombing Communist China if he could be quite certain that the Russians would not come in. But, he said, the lack of that certainty was the whole point.

He agreed with Sen. Bridges that the decision of this country to enter the Western European defensive alliance formed by the North Atlantic Treaty involved a risk that the Russians would strike before it could be made effective some two years hence.

But, he said, this was a wholly different proposition from Korea. "We had no choice, literally no choice whatever, there (in Europe)," he said. "I don't think the same is true of Korea."

DETAILS ORDERS

He summed up the restrictions that had been put upon Gen. MacArthur in Korea by saying that the Allied forces were "under no circumstances to carry out operations beyond the border of Korea."

"He (Gen. MacArthur) also was cautioned," Sec. Marshall added, "against having units within—I think it was—about 15 miles of the border in northeast Korea where it touched the perimeter of Siberia, the Soviet government.

"There was a modification in those restrictions in the event that our forces were attacked outside Korea, to the effect that he was authorized to retaliate in bombing against such operations."

These limitations, Gen. Marshall added, were necessary in order to avoid a break with our Allies and a complete confusion in our relations to the United Nations.

At one point, he admonished the committees that some of the questions concerning what the U. S. proposed to do in Korea would require answers that would unmask the highest war plans.

He suggested also that adequate answers to such questions might themselves do nothing to raise morale in Korea.

In these passages, for the most part heavily censored, he observed, however, that the Chinese and North Korean casualties were so enormous as to seriously cripple the invader, not in relation to his giant total population but to his battleworthy men.

"There has been a difficulty," he said, "in arriving at casualties but it appears that the losses have been somewhere between 500,000 and 800,000 that have been suffered by the North Koreans and by the Chinese Communists.

"No people can continue at that rate very long. While we have had heavy losses for us, considering the distance from home, and the small forces involved, they have been very, very small in comparison with those suffered by the Chinese Communists and the North Koreans, and remarkably small during the last two to three months."

The Secretary repeated, as he had testified in another connection some months ago, that it was he who was responsible for suppressing the China section of a report on a special mission to the Orient made by Lieut. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer.

He had done so, he asserted, because some of the observations in the document would have embarrassed the United States Government in such enterprises as the then active effort to aid the Greeks against Communist incursions.

DISMISSES KOREA SECTION

As to the Korean section of the Wedemeyer report, which only recently was made public by the investigating panel, the combined Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relation committees, Gen. Marshall implied that it had been suppressed by the State Department. He himself indicated no special interest in it.

Taxed by Sen. Bridges at the fact that the administration had not put into effect one of Gen. Wedemeyer's main recommendations, that for raising a strong South Korean force under American officers, Gen. Marshall retorted in two parts.

In the first place, he said, no administration could take all the advice that was given to it. In the second, he asserted, there was evidence that the South Korean president, Syngman Rhee, himself would have "strongly opposed" putting his troops under American officers.

The Secretary disagreed with Gen. MacArthur as to the degree of emphasis that should be put upon Korea simply as a strategic area. It was of "very material importance" in that sense, he said, but "not absolutely vital."

"CONSULTATION"

As to the decision to enter the Korean war, in which, as a man then in retirement he was not consulted, Gen. Marshall was told that Gen. MacArthur had testified that he, too, was not consulted.

If that was the case, the Secretary added, Gen. MacArthur at all events had been given "the approximation of consultation" in various messages that had passed between Washington and Tokyo.

As to the outlook now, Gen. Marshall told the committees that there were and had been only three choices. One of these, he added, was "the extension of the campaign along the lines suggested by Gen. MacArthur."

The second, the secretary went on, "was to withdraw from Korea and violate a promise to those people and sacrifice them to assassination and probably almost to extinction."

The third and settled policy, he continued, was "to fight where we were, to what advantage we could gain by the method that we followed."

"That method," he said, "was to inflict the greatest number of casualties we could in order to break down not only the morale but the trained fabric of the Chinese armies."

There were deletions at this point for reason of military security and the secretary's account then went on:

"That is, inflict terrific casualties on the Chinese Communist forces. If we break the morale of their armies, but more particularly if we destroy their best trained armies as we have been in the process of doing, there, it seems to me, you develop the best possibility of reaching a satisfactory negotiatory basis with those Chinese Communist forces without getting ourselves into what we think would be a great hazard toward developing a much enlarged struggle with consequently larger casualties or a complete world war."

TRUMAN RIGHT, SO FAR

For five years, he said, the highest policy of the United States had been to "curb Communist aggression and if possible to avoid another world war in doing so." It had required "extraordinary patience, firmness and determination," he said, to help Allies over hard spots in Iran, Greece, Turkey, Trieste, Berlin, Indochina and finally Korea.

All the way through, he went on, there had been complaints that the government was being too soft—as for example when some had demanded that the United States "shoot its way" through the Berlin blockade put on by the Russians—but each policy, so far, had worked in the end.

The country, he said, had to go on with "courage and poise" in awareness that the struggle with international communism would be a long one and that there could be "no quick and decisive solution short of resorting to another world war."

While there had been "a considerable burden" on this country over the years, the secretary observed, "It is likewise true that it has imposed great strains on the Soviet government, and has created significant tensions within the Soviet orbit which, in the end, may yield decisive advantages to this country and our allies."

MacArthur Visits Rand; Job 'Not Discussed'

DARIEN, Conn., May 8. (U.P.)—Gen. MacArthur and his wife drove to Connecticut Tuesday where they spent most of the afternoon with Industrialist James H. Rand, President of Remington Rand, Inc., who has offered MacArthur a $100,000-a-year civilian job.

Rand said he and the General, old friends, walked around the 50-acre Rand estate in the Ox Ridge section of Darien, enjoying the weather and the Spring surroundings. He added, however, that nothing was mentioned about the job offer.

"You belong to the people of America," Rand said he told the General, "and until your job is done, we should not discuss other matters."

Government May Raise Pay Ceilings

New Panels Created To Study Salaries

WASHINGTON, May 8—(INS) The government indicated Tuesday that its 10 percent pay increase ceiling will be pushed up to cover cost-of-living boosts since the curb was adopted last February.

This development came as a new board was created to draw up salary ceilings for non-union executives and white collar employees, and special panels were appointed to decide on wages for packinghouse, construction, railroad and farm workers.

Federal wage officials said the formula holding pay hikes to 10 percent will be reviewed when the Labor Department announces its April 15 cost-of-living index this month and indicated the ceiling will be changed to compensate for living increases.

Meanwhile, the 18-man Wage Stabilization Board was sworn in and plunged into about 1,500 negotiated contracts which pierce the 10 percent pay boost ceiling.

While the wage actions were being announced, there were these other developments in the economic controls program:

Labor Secretary Tobin told the Senate Banking Committee that extension of controls is needed to block "disastrous inflation," and that if prices continue to rise, it would be "unrealistic" to assume that any limitations on wage increases could be maintained.

Sen. Douglas, Democrat, Illinois, charged that big business is getting "supersonic" action on its requests for special tax benefits while small business applications are acted upon slowly.

ATLANTA BRUNETTE'S SIGHTS HIGH

New Beauty Queen Wants Ambition-Laden 6-Footer

Atlanta's new beauty queen, brunette Ann Hudson, who was crowned Miss Atlanta of 1951 Tuesday on WSB-TV's Strictly for the Girls show, definitely "doesn't want to be an old maid." But, her sights are set pretty high, boys.

The photogenic, five-foot seven-inch, 130-pound beauty who soon will be 18, said she wants a career—and a man, too. But, the ideal man must be "at least six feet and weigh almost 190 pounds, be sports-minded and have loads of ambition.

"I like all sports, especially golf. I'm not a good golfer but I like to try. Dancing is my real love. I like modeling, too."

Miss Hudson said she is taking a course in modeling. "I model clothes and suits." Her measurements, incidentally, are: bust 36; waist 24; hips 36.

She was selected from seven finalists in a contest staged by the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mary Lee Brogden was awarded second prize and Elaine Harvey was named third place winner.

Congressman Kee Dies; Foreign Affairs Chairman

WASHINGTON, May 8—(UP)—Chairman John Kee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee—who wanted to "die in harness"—suffered a fatal heart attack Tuesday just after his committee approved a gesture of friendship to the Russian people.

The 76-year-old West Virginia Democrat, veteran of 18 years in Congress, was stricken as he presided over a closed committee meeting on the third floor of the capitol. He was assisted into an adjoining ante-chamber and lay down on a couch.

Rep. Kee

The Congressional physician, Dr. George W. Calver, pronounced him dead at 11:40 a. m. EDT. Rep. Laurie A. Battle, (Dem., Ala.) who was present, said Kee died "without suffering any pain."

Kee had returned to his House duties only a month ago after undergoing a long check-up at the Bethesda, Md., Naval Medical Center for a 10-year-long heart condition.

Rep. James P. Richards, (Dem., S. C.) told a hushed House a few minutes after Kee died that he had sought to persuade the soft-spoken and scholarly chairman to take his work more easily. But Kee refused.

"I'll die if I have nothing to do; I want to die in harness," Richards quoted him, adding: "He died with his boots on. . . He wouldn't have chosen any other way."

Secretary of State Dean Acheson said Kee's death "is a great loss to the people of the United States and a very personal loss to me." He paid high tribute to Kee for "the manner in which he has devoted all his energy and ability to the cause of his country."

Richards, acting chairman of the committee during Kee's long absence and who probably will take over the chair, said Kee collapsed at the head of the green baize-covered committee table just after his group approved a Senate-passed resolution "extending to the people of Russia—not the government—a friendly hand."

Asking Richards to take over, Kee tottered a few steps before falling into the arms of committee members.

Both Republicans and Democrats eulogized Kee in speeches to the House when it met only 20 minutes after his death. It later adjourned out of respect.

Kee, a resident of Bluefield, W. Va., first was elected to Congress from the traditionally Republican 5th district in 1932.

Board Gets Parole Plea For 3 in Turner Slaying

By HOKE SMITH MAY

A plea for parole of a Meriwether County man serving a life sentence for his participation in the death of William Turner was laid before the State Pardon and Parole Board Tuesday.

At the hearing Attorney Pierre Howard said two others sentenced to life terms in the case are planning appeals for freedom.

Howard asked the board to make exception to its parole rules and free Herring Sivell, who, according to testimony at the 1948 trial, was driver of the car into which Turner was forced after being struck by John Wallace.

Wallace was executed for Turner's death last year.

The board also heard the Rev. E. T. Dawson, pastor of the Chipley Baptist Church, testify that Wallace made a death-cell plea for the freedom of the other three men involved in the case.

Dawson quoted Wallace as saying Sivell, Tom Strickland and Henry Mobley "had no part in what I'm paying society for tomorrow.

Attorney Howard said he entered a plea of guilty for Sivell at the trial because he felt he would not be able to get a fair trial for his client in Coweta Superior Court.

Talmadge Conference

Gov. Talmadge has called a conference Monday to discuss the advisability of activating the Agricultural Commodities Authority created by the 1951 General Assembly.

The Authority would have the power to advertise Georgia products and would be financed by a self-imposed growers' tax.

Talmadge said he had not given thought to activating the Authority because of the current war situation and efforts of the Federal Government to promote agricultural expansion. However, he said some tobacco growers are interested in having the Authority set up and he has called a conference with them.

$242,500 Radio Suit

Arguments in a $242,500 suit filed against Savannah radio stations by E. D. Rivers, Jr., were heard by the State Court of Appeals Tuesday.

Rivers sued the stations, charging they maliciously interferred with his business in opposing his application to the Federal Communications Commission for a radio station in Savannah.

A. A. Lawrence and Edwin McWhorter, attorneys for the stations, sought to have the case dismissed on the grounds that testimony before the FCC is privileged. But Marvin O'Neal, Jr., Rivers' attorney, insisted that suit was not libel action but a suit charging malicious interference.

Army Eases Call Up Rule for Reserves

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—The Army said Tuesday it will not order any enlisted member of a reserve unit into active service if his enlistment has less than a year to run.

This provision applies immediately to enlisted reservists whether or not they have received orders to report for duty.

Enlisted members of Organized Reserve units sign up for three years. The Army recently announced a similar provision for reserves who are called up as individuals.

Under present policy, enlisted reservists must be released from active duty after 21 months or when their reserve enlistment expires, whichever date comes first.

The Army said it took this action to prevent short service reservists from going on duty with their units and then having to be released shortly after.

The Atlanta pilot, Lt. Noah C. New of 1640 Boulevard, N. E., went on active duty with the Marine reserves at the Atlanta station last October, urged young Atlantans to join a new unit being formed to fill place vacated when his squadron was called to duty.

in that sector to reorganize on new defensive lines."

As the General addressed the ramrod-stiff British soldiers, Korean civilians working in the nearby rice and grain fields halted their work in curiosity and and approached as closely as the British and American military police would permit.

Gen. Van Fleet also paid tribute to the "battle seasoned 27th Brigade, which rushed into the central sector of the United Nations lines." This bridge, he said, held a critical area and during this stand inflicted heavy casualties on the advancing Chinese forces while at the same time sustaining only minor casualties in its own forces.

At the close of the ceremony, Gen. Van Fleet shook hands with, and pinned the citation on six members of the Gloucesters. As the piper's mace again skirled, the pipes' military formation saluted the dead and marched sharply off the field.

The company said the increased pay rates would take effect on the first payroll period after expiration of the present contract June 4.

Garner said the increases "are in addition to the regularly scheduled progression increases which our employees receive until they reach the top rate for their jobs."

He said that increases in telephone rates are still "lagging far behind increases in telephone wages," estimating that including the present wage offer the rate increases granted since 1939 are falling short by about $30,000,000.

Sims said: "In addition to pay substantially the present inadequate wages of telephone workers, we are seeking contract improvements on matters of vital importance to the welfare of Southern Bell employees."

Garner issued the following statement:

"In today's bargaining session the company presented an offer of wage increases, most of which range from $3 to $6 a week. The increases proposed are in addition to the regularly scheduled progression increases which telephone employees receive until they reach the top rate for their jobs. The offer amounts to about $10,000,000 a year in additional labor costs to Southern Bell. It is made with full realization that such large extra costs cannot be absorbed without an increase in the telephone rates paid by our customers. Yet we are convinced the offer is justified.

"Since the last general wage increase to Southern Bell employees, there has been a rise in the cost of living and there has been a corresponding rise in pay scales. A survey just completed covering 4,000 firms employing 750,000 people shows there has been a general upward movement of wages in the South. It is clear that Southern Bell employees are entitled to an increase.

INCREASED COSTS

"It is Southern Bell's policy to pay wage rates in line with those paid other workers in the community having similar skills. But it is not just a matter of policy. If we failed to pay wages good enough to attract and keep high-type employees, we would be unable to provide service of the quality that the public has come to expect. In the public interest, Southern Bell has to pay good wages.

"The wage increase offer we have made plus other increased costs of doing business will require increased telephone rates. Increases in telephone rates are still lagging far behind increases in telephone wages. Taking into account the present wage offer, the rate increases granted since 1939 are falling short by about $30,000,000 annually of covering the cost of wage increases granted over the same period. The money to pay telephone employees' wages comes from telephone customers, and the customers' interests must be protected along with those of our employees. We must agree only to those increases that are justified, and no more.

"Southern Bell has made this offer as one that is fair to employees and customers alike. In the negotiations now in progress we intend to be guided by the interests of telephone users as well as of telephone workers. We cannot overlook our responsibility to the public we serve."

country at Torquay applied to items of which he had total imports of about $500,000,000.

The department conceded, however, that this statement of exports was far above anything that might be expected under more normal trading relations and suggested that under such conditions the two sets of concessions would about balance.

The point of all this was that 1949, the latest year for which detailed trade figures are available, was anything but normal and that without financing by the Economic Co-operation Administration and other foreign aid programs, our exports would have been less than half the volume they attained in that year.

FIVE NEWCOMERS

Of the 17 countries with which the United States exchanged concessions at Torquay, five were becoming parties to the general agreement on tariffs and trade for the first time. They were Austria, Germany, Korea, Peru and Turkey.

The other 12 countries were contracting parties at the Geneva or Annecy confeernces in 1947 and 1949 and included: Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Dominican Republic, France, Indonesia, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Luxembourg and Sweden.

Concessions given and received by the United States at Torquay were described in 474 pages of tabular matter and text that comprised the state department's analysis. In something less than a summary listing of United States concessions the analysis said:

"Among product on which the United States granted concessions are the following: Lead and zinc, Canadian-type whiskey, cigarette leaf tobacco, aluminum, long-staple cotton, precious and semi-precious stones, certain laces and embroideries, ferromanganese, flower bulbs, sugar (except from Cuba and the Philippines), cheese, bonito and certain other fish."

GERMANY PEGS RATES

On the other side of the equation, the analysis said:

"Products on which concessions were obtained by the United States cover a wide range of agricultural and industrial products, including wheat and wheat flour, corn, cotton, lard, dried and canned fruit, a wide range of chemicals, machinery of many kinds including automobiles and parts, textile specialties such as nylon hosiery, radio and television apparatus, electric refrigeration and air conditioning equipment, agriculture implements and office appliances."

The agreement with Canada and Germany were labeled "the most important" negotiated in the state department analysis. Germany made tariff concessions to the United States, largely in the form of "binding" of rates against future increases, on products that in 1949 accounted for about 75 percent of our total exports to occupied Germany.

Canada and Germany together accounted for more than 75 percent of the concessions granted this country on the basis of 1948 trade values.

Rizzuto and Fags, Georgia and Miami, Mundorff and Louisville

For what it's worth: You can't be sure that Roy Mundorff would care for the U. of Louisville job now, unless he cottons to challenges. The school's athletic department is $230,000 in the hole and Louisville papers are hollering for a retrenchment. . . . The last precinct has been heard from and Atlanta's generosity came to $1,700 in behalf of Dick Niehaus, to whom the dollars were worth several times more than that in precious sentiment.

Don't recall seeing it confirmed yet, but I believe you'll find Mickey Grasso's 19 putouts in that 13-inning rassling match with the Browns last week set an American League record. . . . It was Hank Greenberg who engineered and moderated the big American League deal between the Indians, White Sox and A's last week. Key figures were Lou Brissie and Gus Zernial. Greenberg wanted Brissie and Jimmy Dykes wouldn't budge without Zernial.

Overheard between a couple of big league baseball writers making their first Kentucky Derby: "You can tell a good ballplayer—good hands, keen eyes, strong arm—but a horse is just a horse to me." . . . Remember old American Leaguer Joe Cascarella, the Philadelphia and Washington pitcher? He's now running Laurel race track in Maryland. Married the boss' daughter. . . . A horse named Stand Alone was left at the post twice in a row at Saratoga in 1938, after which his mutuel supporters gave him a few new names. . . . Old Yankee Outfielder Johnny Lindell, who first came up a pitcher, has returned to his original trade. For Hollywood (Pacific Coast) recently he ran up a string of 15 successive scoreless innings.

BISHER

"I noticed an item April 25 that said Phil Rizzuto doesn't drink hard liquor and doesn't smoke. But on the back of my 1951 Baseball Guide is his picture in three places indorsing cigarettes. What's a fellow to believe?" (R. J. Clark, Fitzgerald). . . . You're to believe that the Scooter knows how to turn a fast buck. He still doesn't smoke. . . . Pat Field, who goes to Albany as Bernie Reid's assistant, became the 71st Wally Butts product out in the coaching field.

A group of Georgia legislators recently visited the Georgia Training School for Boys at Milledgeville, found the football desire strong, but nothing to play the game with. This throws open a cause that's made for the sports patron. If you have any athletic equipment, or have knowledge of any school or individual with athletic equipment that might be made available to these boys, please get in touch with the school, or with Culver Kidd, chairman of the Georgia State Sanitarium at Milledgeville. You might care to remember that Babe Ruth came out of a training school.

Trippi Might Go On Forever as a QB

When Woody Hayes, the new Ohio State football coach, first took his little son out to see the big Buckeye stadium, the little Hayes showed wisdom unknown among his elders. "Why, Daddy," he exclaimed, "the field's the same size as the one at Miami." . . . Out of that stadium has come a new New York pitching Giant, George Spencer, now a Durocher starting choice, quarterbacked the '46 Ohio State football team. . . . Among the small stuff last week was a Buffalo item that said: "George (Bingo) Binks, outfielder-first baseman, has been released by the Bison." Who can ever forget how he forgot his sun glasses and lost the ball in the sun that cost Washington the pennant in '45? Give him time and he might become as famous as Fred Merkle.

To Carl Strang: Shows you what can happen when you trust memory instead of reaching for the record book five feet away. But there's nothing surer than the second guess. . . . California and Florida have squared off in a horse fight after Count Turf's Derby haul. California claims it's a California success. The breeder lives out there. Florida claims it for Florida. The Count ran his first race there. And all the time I thought it belonged to Broadway.

Georgia will take up its football debate with Miami in 1952. The Bulldogs and Hurricanes resume their off-again, on-again series Dec. 6 that year in the Orange Bowl. . . . Charley Trippi has his nose to the grindstone in a personal T quarterback school at Athens. He intends to get a toehold on the rocking chair job with the Chicago Cardinals next Fall. . . . "Tough as Charley is," says Wally Butts, "he ought to last as long as Sammy Baugh."

Coming Next a Handball Fix, Eh What?

Add honors for Mrs. Francis King, Atlanta's Annie Oakley: a position on the All-American trap-shooting team. . . . Waycross throws open its baseball gates for a high school party Thursday night. In honor of the town's divisional prep champs, all students can see the Bears play Albany on the house. . . . Recent headline: "Handball Aces Suspended for Playing in Outlaw Tournament." This foul condition should be brought out into the open and the culprits punished severely.

In case you wish to throw a party, today's excuse is the 50th anniversary of volleyball. . . . Last year's Sally League operator at Greenville, S. C., Jimmy Gaston, has given up his class B effort in the Tri-State League. Local interests have taken over. . . . Dublin murdered Douglas, 23-2, in the Georgia State League last week, then Douglas turned on Fitzgerald, 22-6, the next night. On the third day, the scorekeeper handed in his resignation.

There once was an old Macon Peach named Dee Moore who won considerable fame pitching, catching and playing seven other positions. He came out as a manager last week at Mexicali, Calif. . . . Bill Bevens, the tragedy-stricken Yankee who just missed a no-hitter in the '47 World Series, has leveled off in a class B league, pitches for Salem, Ore. . . . Cleveland has set Rudy York up as player-coach on its Youngstown, Ohio, farm club in the next step of Hank Greenberg's restoration campaign for his own Tiger chum. . . Selah.

Only Extra-Base Hit of Contest

BOSTON, May 8—(AP)—Sid Gordon's ninth-inning homer Tuesday night gave the Boston Braves a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and enabled the Braves to regain first place in the National League. His blow was at the expense of Herman Wehmeier. He and Boston's Max Surkont, who won his fourth game, both gave up six hits.

It was Gordon's fourth circuit drive of the campaign.

Ex-Vol Schultz Wins for Cubs

BROOKLYN, May 8—(AP)—One swipe by the home run bat of big Hank Sauer gave the Chicago Cubs enough runs for Bob Schultz Tuesday as the rookie lefty scattered nine Brooklyn hits for a 2-1 victory.

Sauer slammed a Carl Erskine pitch into the lower left field seats, a poke of some 360 feet, with Ramson Jackson on first base in the first inning. That was the ball game. It also was Sauer's fifth homer.

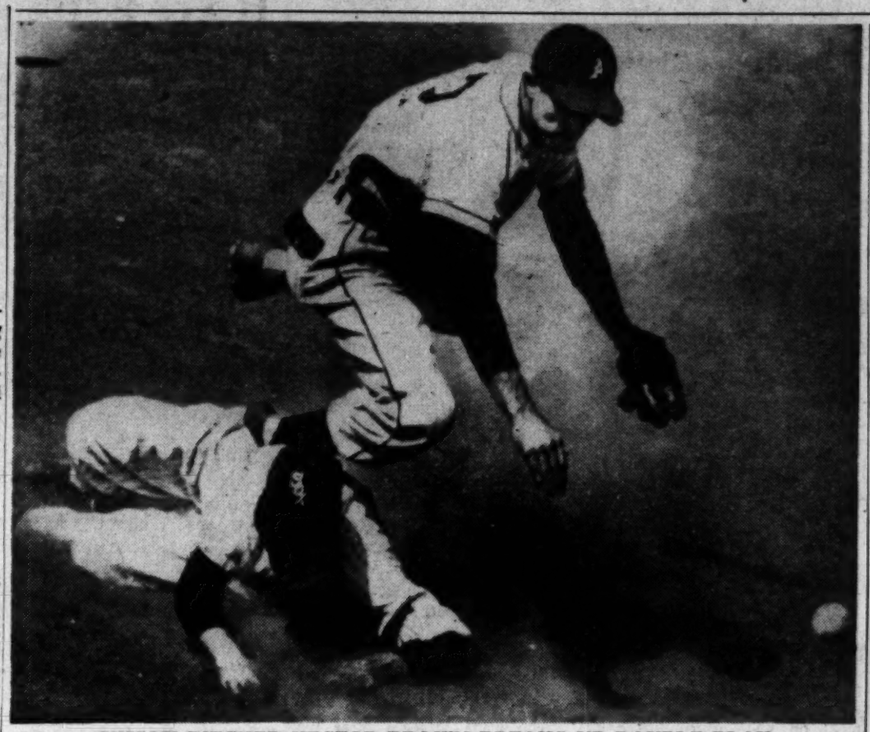

Schultz had his anxious moments in the sixth and eighth. After a run scored in the sixth, a sensational catch by right-fielder Frankie Baumholtz robbed Carl Furillo of a sure-fire double to end the inning.

Pels Out-tumble Crackers, 12-7, In Hellzapoppin'-Type Show

By JESSE OUTLAR

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 8—Things really popped at Pelican Stadium Tuesday night as lowly New Orleans lashed Atlanta, 12-7, in a diamond comedy which provided the 1,294 fans with more laughs than thrills.

Manager Dixie Walker started the silly evening by allowing his old Brooklyn teammate, Kirby Higbe, to take a seven-run socking in the second round.

That Higbe didn't have it was obvious from the start, but Walker didn't lift him until Frank Thomas homered in the fourth stanza.

Before it was over, everyone got in on the act. Umpire Frank Girard chased Rip Sewell in the top of the seventh after the Pel pilot tossed a towel out of the dugout.

Sewell insisted on staying around, and when Plate Umpire Gerald Van Keuren went over to hasten his departure, the fans really had some fun. An unidentified player exploded a pack of fire carckers in front of the dugout, while Van Keuren burned.

Arbiter Augie Guglielmo, an old showman, had his stay in the bottom half of the seventh when he ejected Walker.

Guglielmo, in his usually dramatic fashion, rushed to Cracker bench to inform Walker that he would have to leave. Gugie was peeved over some unkind remark Dixie had made over a play at second. The Crackers claimed runner Hal Bevan was guilty of interference on an attempted doubleplay.

Elmer Toth, the country gentleman from Perryopolis, Penn., was doing the Cracker throwing in the seventh, when paying customers had their final fun. Elmer was his own worst enemy, committing an error, failing to throw after he fielded a bouncer with two on and deflecting a doubleplay dribbler.

Although he was pushed out of the spotlight by the comedy routine, Pel Frank Thomas was the real hero. He hammered a homer, was given a triple by Country Brown's lax fielding and finished with five RBI's. The circuit sock which wound up Higbe's punishment period in the fourth, was Thomas' fifth of the season.

The Pels—first team to whip Atlanta twice in a row this year—collected 13 hits and were handed nine walks by four Cracker throwers.

Rookie Preston Elkins, who departed during a five-run Cracker rally in the seventh, wrapped up his fourth triumph and old Higlebe was saddled with his second loss.

Higbe, who wasn't too happy when Walker lifted him in Mobile last Friday, stayed long enough this time. But it was a costly manner Walker employed to prove his point.

The Williams boys combined to produce Atlanta's first run in 15 innings in the second. Charlie bounced a triple against the right-field wall and scored on Ray's double.

But Charlie was something of a goat in the horrendous Pel second. With two down, he should have caught Ed Wopinek's blooper over second. That would have retired

Fluke Hit Tops Yanks

Wertz Ducks Into Single In Eleventh

Tigers Triumph Over Leaders

DETROIT, May 8—(AP)—Vic Wertz tried to duck a pitched ball in the 11th inning but it struck his bat and bounced into left field for a game-winning single as the Detroit Tigers licked the league-leading New York Yankees, 6-5.

The fluke single handed Rookie Pitcher Ray Herbert his fourth straight victory as a relief pitcher without a defeat. Allie Reynolds, who went the distance, took his second loss against the victory.

Vic Wertz

New York's Hank Bauer, making his first start, belted two homers. Teammate Jackie Jensen smacked his fifth of the season.

Wertz whacked a two-run homer and drove in three runs to spark Detroit's 12-hit attack. Catcher Joe Ginsberg poled his third homer for the Tigers.

With one out in the eleventh Jerry Priddy singled to left. After Kryhosky flied out, Priddy scooted to third on George Kell's single to right. Then Wertz followed with his fluke single, sending Priddy across the plate with the winning run.

'A's Coast, 9-4, Over White Sox

CHICAGO, May 8—(AP)—Bobby Shantz was rapped for a dozen hits but won his first 1951 victory Tuesday when the Philadelphia Athletics coasted to a 9-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The victory salvaged the final of the three-game series for the Athletics and snapped the Comiskeys' four-game winning streak.

The A's piled up a 6-0 lead after the first half of the second inning. Starter Dick Littlefield got into a four-run jam in the opening round because of wildness. He walked four, yielded one single to Dave Philley, and then, after Hal Brown took over, Joe Astroth hit a two-run single to right.

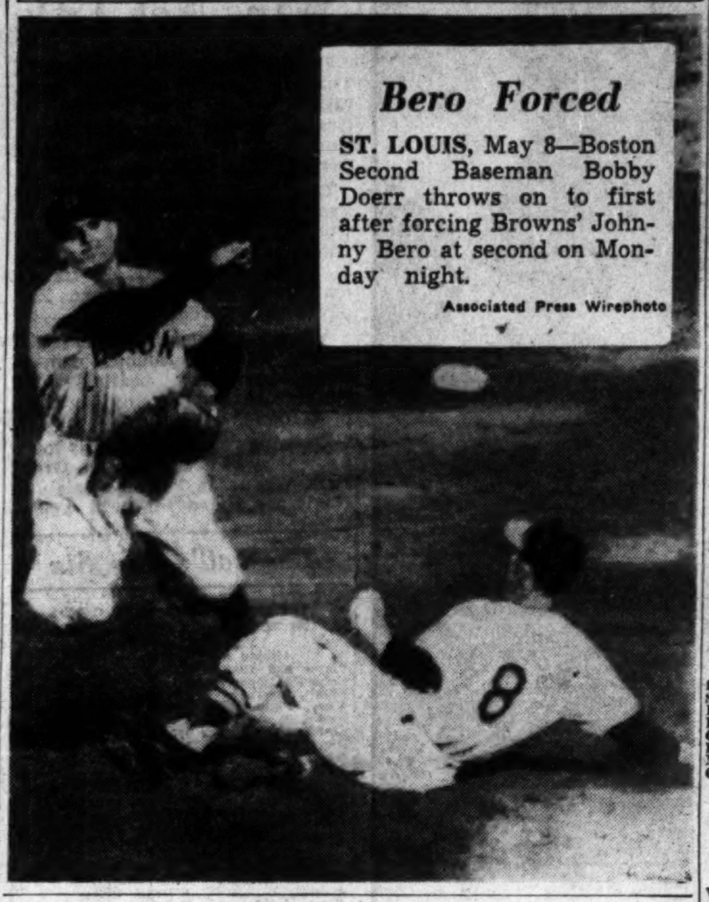

Brown was rocked for homers by Eddie Joost and Ferris Fain in the second inning.

Kirby, Faulk Advance In Southern Amateur

FORT SMITH, Ark., May 8—(AP)—Atlanta's Dot Kirby and Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., were among the favorites who advanced handily in first-round matches of the Southern Women's Amateur golf tournament at Hardscrabble Country Club Tuesday.

Kirby, tourney medalist, advanced at the expense of a fellow Georgian, Frances Rich, Bainbridge, winning 5 and 4. Faulk ousted Dolly Sigler, Hattiesburg, Miss., 7 and 6.

Mary Lena Faulk

Defending champion Polly Riley of Fort Worth walloped Mrs. Grady Prim, Sulphur Springs, Tex., 9 and 8, in the best performance of the day. Miss Riley was one under men's par for 11 holes. She birdied No. 3 and equaled the men's par on the others.

This was in contrast to yesterday's qualifying play, in which the rugged layout had scores soaring and even a 102 was good enough to earn a championship flight berth.

Men's par for the 6,421-yard course is 72; women's par 75.

The going gets tougher tomorrow as some of the top-ranked contenders among the 16 survivors start meeting each other.

The championship will be decided Saturday. One 18-hole round is to be played each day.

First-round results:
Dot Kirby, Atlanta, defeated Frances Rich, Bainbridge, Ga., 5 and 4.
Mrs. Sam Israel, New Orleans, defeated Mrs. W. G. Best, Memphis, 8 and 7.
Betty Dodd, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, defeated Mrs. Al Roberts, Lake Charles, La., 8 and 7.
Mrs. Carle Robbins, Fort Smith, defeated Mrs. Tom Wallace, Sapulpa, Okla., 4 and 3.
Marnie Polk, Chattanooga, defeated Lou Pogue, Sulphur Springs, Texas, 6 and 5.
Polly Riley, Fort Worth, defeated Mrs. Grady Prim, Sulphur Springs, Texas, 9 and 8.
Pat Garner, Midland, Texas, defeated Mrs. E. A. Dietz, Fort Worth, 7 and 5.
Mary Ann Villegas, New Orleans, defeated Mrs. J. S. Gillard, New Orleans, 8 and 7.
Ed Dell Wortz, Fort Smith, defeated Mrs. S. F. Little, Fort Smith, 2 and 1.
Bea McWane, Birmingham, defeated Mrs. Gerald Teasley, Texarkana, Ark., 8 and 6.
Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., defeated Dolly Sigler, Hattiesburg, Miss., 7 and 6.
Hilda Urbantke, Austin, Texas, defeated Mrs. Robert Cargile, Fort Smith, 8 and 7.
Mrs. Maurice Glick, Baltimore, defeated Mrs. Babe Ciaklone, Fort Smith, 8 and 6.
Betty Rushing, El Dorado, Ark., defeated Mrs. Tom Lichty, Fort Smith, 4 and 3.
Mrs. Lou Miller, Hot Springs, Ark., defeated Mrs. Ray Fellows, Tulsa, one up.
Wednesday's second-round pairings:
Kirby vs. Israel.
Dodd vs. Robbins.
Polk vs. McGarry.
Riley vs. Garner.
Villegas vs. Wortz.
McWane vs. Miller.
Faulk vs. Rushing.

Avondale Tuesday beat Stone Mountain, 17-5, in a DeKalb County League game at Avondale on the six-hit hurling of Donald Head.

The Blue Birds, who Monday lost out to Fulton in the Region 3-A playoffs, pounded out 17 hits. Ronald Bradley, with a triple, double and single in five trips, and Billy West led the winning stickmen. Tech's 'T' Coach Ray Ellis Resigns

Will Enter Auto Business In Home State Kentucky

Ray Ellis, who brought the "T" to Georgia Tech football, Monday announced his resignation as assistant coach to enter the automobile business in LaGrange, Ky.

Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd said he was undecided whether to hire a successor.

Ellis' resignation becomes effective July 1, at which time he will join his older brother Delbert in Kentucky. He expressed regret at leaving Tech. "But," he said, I am convinced this offer is an opportunity."

Ray Ellis

Only possible opening on the Tech staff now would be for a defensive backfield coach, and Dodd is not sure that he will hire an assistant for that particular job. He said he has no one in mind.

"We regret losing Ray from our staff," said Dodd, "but can understand his reasons for leaving."

"Mrs. Ellis and I have been happy in Atlanta and at Tech," Ellis said, "and it has taken us a long time to reach the decision to leave. I have turned down several good coaching offers elsewhere to stay on at Tech where conditions are ideal."

Ellis, who coached at Madisonville, Ky., for 17 years, joined the Tech staff in 1945 and helped Dodd install the "T" formation. He had been a "T" pioneer in Kentucky prep circles and also put in the "T" for then-Coach Bernice Shively at the University of Kentucky in 1944.

Tech coaching staff now:

9th Inning Tally Wins For Pebs

BY BILL FERGUSON
United Press Sports Writer

Little Rock's Travelers have hit the comeback trail.

Not that the Travs ever dropped out of the running, but the hard-hitting Pels are busily making up for the four disasters they suffered before the second-division Chattanooga Lookouts.

Tuesday night the Pels came up with one big tally in the ninth frame to rack up their second straight win over Nashville at Sulphur Dell, 4-3.

Al Yaylian and Floyd Speer scattered nine safties as Little Rock wrote into the records their 18th victory in 27 games to pull within one-half game of the Southern Association league lead.

The Memphis Chicks ended Chattanooga's six-game winning streak by dropping the Lookouts, 6-5.

Chattanooga rallied near the end, but came up one run short after fighting from behind a 6-to-0 margin.

Chick Jerome Dahlke saved the game for starter Gus Keriazakos, who was chased in the sixth after hurling one-hit ball for five innings.

Mobile banged out nine hits to break up a battle with the driving Birmingham Barons, 9-7. The Bears racked up an early lead and then nipped a Baron rally in the ninth.

Gil Mills went all the way for the Bears and limited Birmingham to eight bingles, one a homer by George Wilson.

But Rookies are Rookies and Charlie missed. He also threw wildly on the relay after Thomas' triple as three of the seven runs raced home. Higbe mixed six walks with eight hits during his hectic stint.

The Crackers picked up a run in the fourth, but the Pels got two as Thomas unloaded his blow in the left field seats.

Dixie's bewildered men disposed of Elkins with a five-run punch in the seventh, but Mike Kash, veteran southpaw, averted further damage.

Pete Fox spelled Higbe, worked two scoreless stanzas and then Toth got confused. Walter Nothe replaced Toth in the eighth.

Al Aucoin, who had produced as a pinch-hitter in five straight games, failed to make it sixth, grounding out in the eighth.

However, Hank Ertman had two singles and a walk and has been aboard in 24 consecutive tilts. Ray Williams got a single and a pass and now has 11 hits and six walks in his last 22 swings.

SHORT NOTES: Al Henencheck (2-0) and Howard Anderson (3-1) toss Wednesday's twilight twin bill for Atlanta. Ex-Cracker Bill Kennedy (1-1) and Jim Mims (1-2) wind up the series for the Pels. First pitch is scheduled for 8 p. m. (Atlanta time). . . . League Pres. Charlie Hurth proudly points out that his umpires have ejected two less players this season through May 7 than last year. But give trigger-fingered Fred Sigler time and he'll surpass last season's peak. . . . Bill Burwell, who succeeded Hugh Luby as Pel pilot in '50, is in town for a look at the New Orleans club. Burwell is a trouble-shooter for the Pittsburgh organization. . . . Joe E. Brown Jr., son of the movie comedian, is doing a fine job as Pel general manager, according to local sportswriters. . . . Incidentally, New Orleans has acquired two pitchers, Lee Anthony and Don Carlsen, from Hollywood. . . . Atlanta is idle Thursday and opens an important four-game series in Little Rock Friday.

Sylvan Nine Pulls 1-0 Upset Over Murphy

Rod Colson's Sylvan Bears, upset kings of the City League, stepped up another notch out of the cellar Tuesday in pulling their prime upset of the year, a 1-0 decision over loop-leading Murphy at Kirkwood.

Tommy Crowe bowed his neck after suffering a large gash in one knee in a second-inning slide and limited the Eagles to five singles, fanned two and walked two. Colvin Heist allowed the winners four pokes, including a triple by Stan Cochran, whiffed eight and walked a pair.

The only tally came in the fifth. Johnny Lassiter singled, was forced by Allen Rodgers. Charlie Corley singled, and when Eagle centerfielder Louis Gary fumbled the ball, Rodgers completed the circuit.

Smith pulled into second place on a 15-2 smashing of Bass at Grant Park behind Gerald Fowler's six-hitter. Jimmy Rogers threw a four-hitter at Roosevelt and struck out 12 to give O'Keefe an 11-3 margin, and Grady's sixth-inning nine spot was too much for Brown, 11-5.

Clarence Cannon's three-run triple and a trio of two-run round trippers by Reginald Ballard, Glenn Bohannon and Gerald Fowler set the Smithie pace. Ken Lancaster, Ted and Gerald Fowler timbered a pair of knocks each. Fowler fanned eight, walked three.

O'Keefe heavy stickers were Clark Mashburn, three singles; Frank Tippett, triple and single; Bobby McCauley, double and single, and Jimmy Nisewonger, two singles. Bill Wilson cracked a homer and Jimmy Williams two singles for Roosevelt.

Roger Bolton and Sammy Sartain bagged round trippers for Brown, and Buster Adams one for Grady.

NEAR 4-AA CROWN

Rome Evens Series, Nips Decatur, 3-2

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Glenn Johnson, Rome High's curveballing fireball, was tagged for five hits Tuesday, largest total garnered off him in a regulation game all year. That effort was good enough to give Coach Dick McPhee's ace a 3-2 triumph over Decatur and revenge for the only defeat he has suffered all season.

The 165-pound, Georgia Tech-bound right-hander bested Dave Redford, who had beaten the wiry blond by that identical score in Rome. The Tuesday victory on Decatur soil practically assured the Hilltoppers of the Region 4-AA crown.

Johnson, who was belted for a two-run homer by Eddie Patrick in the sixth inning, walked three, fanned five. He has hurled 58 innings, struck out 75, allowed 15 runs and 25 safeties, winning six and losing one.

Redford issued only two free tickets, whiffed 11 Romans and, except for the sixth inning when he was smacked for four of the six blows, was master. Donald Traylor's double and successive singles by Billy Byars, now batting .587, Larry Muschamp and Donnie Mull accounted for the three Hilltopper tallies.

Only Charlie Huff, of Decatur, managed two safe knocks in the tight duel.

Gabby Gaston threw a two-hitter to give Russell a 15-0 verdict over Marist, and Charlie (Sonny) Johnson limited Cedartown to four to hand North Fulton a 7-2 triumph. But the important victory went to Marietta over West Fulton, 5-4. Bud Theodocion allowed seven pokes and struck out five in besting Lloyd Chambers, who give up six hits and fanned six.

Bob Hudson led Harrison Anderson's Blue Devils with two safeties. E. W. Abernathy chipped in with a triple and Ned Stocks with a double. Tommy Pritchett was a two-time base knocker for the Owls, and Hoyt McCravey socked a triple.

Ralph Henry's home run and double sparked Russell. Jackie Cotter's single and Charlie Snitzer's double were Marist's only two hits.

Johnny David, who whanged across three runs, and Lucien Hope bagged two hits apiece for North Fulton, and Richard Coleman and Jim Hickerson popped a double each. Bo Austin had two of a kind for Cedartown.

AUBURN, Ala., May 8—(AP)—Auburn's freshmen won a free-scoring baseball game from Alabama yearlings, 21-17, Tuesday for their second straight triumph over the Baby Tiders.

Shortstop Hook Veal, with a triple, double and single, was the leading Auburn batter. Bear Hunter topped the Tide hitters with a double and three singles.

Auburn came from behind in the seventh and added to their margin in the eighth to take the wild game which saw 14 errors committed, nine by the Tiger frosh.

Roswell won its seventh game against two losses this season Tuesday by defeating Northside, 10-8, in a non-league battle at Roswell.

Jimmy Walls fanned 10 while giving up 11 hits going all the way for the winners. Jack Leckey, who hit a three-run triple in two for three, led the Roswell batting. Charles Scott also got a pair for three.

Northside's Barry and Patterson each contributed a double and a single in three times at the plate.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Maryland's 'Dream Race' Still on Tap

Condensed from Wire Reports

Maryland's Jockey Club is still holding out for its "dream race" May 26, despite the fact that Royal Mustang and Ruhe, second and third finishers in the Kentucky Derby, have been entered in the $25,000-added Peabody Memorial at Washington Park, May 30.

Club had planned to match first four horses in Derby with top four in Preakness for a $50,000 "Jubilee" race. Phil D., fourth in Derby, is definitely out with hurt leg.

Giants' Whitey Lockman and Leo Durocher were fined $25 and $50 by National League President Ford Frick for use of "foul and abusive language" after Lockman was called out on hidden-ball trick in Sunday's game with Cincinnati.

Clemson won southern division baseball title of Southern Conference Tuesday by beating Furman, 12-2.

Eddie Arcaro rode a triple at Jamaica before 20,939. He won with Sir White ($8.70), Sonny Stiefel ($6.60), and Mixture ($5.70).

To Market, making first start since Wood Memorial, won Indian King purse by two lengths at Garden State Park.

Lightweight champ Ike Williams was given a few days' grace to iron out details of June title bout with Art Aragon in Los Angeles by National Boxing Association. NBA warned Williams would be stripped of title unless bout is set.

Lyceum won $4,200 Count Fleet Purse at Churchill Downs.

Wisconsin voted unanimously to reject, in any form, renewal of Big Ten's Rose Bowl pact with Pacific Coast Conference, tossing a monkey wrench into plans for a new agreement.

College Golf Spot Shines On Bulldogs

By BERT PRATHER

University of Georgia's crack golf team, tagged as the team to beat in the Southeastern Conference division of the Southern Intercollegiate tournament starting at Athens Country Club Thursday, may well figure prominently in the overall title picture.

Coach Howell Hollis' linksmen righted themselves after a shaky early season start and now have ten straight dual competition victories to their credit. Latest to fall before the Bulldog sharpshooters was University of Florida Tuesday in Athens. The Gators, one of the four teams to beat Georgia, were polished off in this second encounter, 17½ to 3½.

All the experts have been able to see thus far is North Texas State's powerful combine. The Eagles have captured the National Collegiate crown the past two years and have a record of only one loss in dual competition during the two years.

The records, notwithstanding, Georgia's Bulldogs should be rated an outside chance to spill the dope just as Wake Forest did last year when they edged practically this same team of Eagles for the team title.

Local knowledge of the tough Athens CC course and marked improvement of such players as Capt. Wilkins Kirby, of Newnan; Griffin Moody, Athens; Johnny Carson, Atlanta; Nolen Richardson, Jr., Athens; Red Hester, Anniston, Ala. and Richard Cofer, of Athens, should make the Bulldogs contenders for both titles.

Captain Kirby shot a four under 68 Tuesday. Moody, Carson and Richardson all had 71s, while Hester was one over with a 73. Cofer, the No. 6 man did not play against the Gators.

Howell, who is also general tournament chairman, reported the fairways dry and predicted low scoring unless it rains hard before Thursday. Hollis said the field is expected to number around 100.

Emory Wins On Courts

Emory's tennis team Tuesday turned the tables on Mercer with a 6-3 victory on the Emory University courts. The Mercer netmen previously won their home match by the same score.

Four of the six singles matches and two of the three doubles were won by Emory.

SINGLES—Dillard (E) defeated Rice (M), 6-1, 6-3; Schumpfert (M) defeated Yon (E), 6-1, 6-3; Asbury (E) defeated Parker (M), 1-6, 6-3, 10-8; Rustin (E) defeated Woodcock (M), 1-6, 6-3, 6-2; Schwartz (M) defeated Kimball (E), 8-0, 10-8; Milner (E) defeated Tharp (M), 6-3, 6-1.

DOUBLES—Dillard and Asbury (E) defeated Schwartz and Parker (M), 6-4, 6-4; Schumpfert and Woodcock (M) defeated Yon and Kimball (E), 6-3, 6-2; Rustin and Soto (E) defeated Genung and Chasin (M), 6-4, 6-2.

In the old days the umpire was about as untouchable as the Emperor. Fans and players alike were polite to umpires.

Now, only Wednesday, Tokyo police warned ball park soda pop venders their concessions will have to go if fans keep on throwing bottles at players—and umpires.

Korea GIs' Leave Starts Near Home

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—The 30-day leave for returning Korean War veterans starts from the Army station near their home or the destination they select.

The Army gave that explanation Tuesday in response to queries.

It said soldiers returning from the Far East first were processed at Fort Lawton, Wash., and asked where they want to spend their leave. The Army then assigns soldiers to a station or reception center as near as possible to the selected destination.

The Army arranges and pays for transportation from the West Coast to the temporary station. There the soldier is given all pay due him and is free to spend the 30 days as he chooses.

It is up to the individual soldier to make his way home from the station where his leave originates. The Army said there was no law to permit payment of travel expenses right to the soldier's home door.

SPEED YOUR SHIPMENTS!

Central of Georgia Inaugurates Time-Saving Rail-Truck Service

Faster service for less-than-carload freight shipments is brought you through another progressive step by the Central. We have just begun operation in this territory of a new combination rail-truck service which will save you many hours of shipping time.

Central truck routes have been operating successfully between Columbus and Chattanooga, and between Newnan and Griffin since the first of the year.

Now five more routes will bring this service to you.

MACON-DUBLIN, including Gray, Milledgeville, Tennille, and Wrightsville.

MACON-PORTERDALE, including Gray, Bradley, Wayside, Round Oak, Hillsboro, Adgateville, Monticello, Machen, Shady Dale, Kelley, Farrar, Broughton, Newborn, Mansfield, and Covington.

MACON-ATHENS, including Gray, Eatonton, Willard, Monticello, Machen, Shady Dale, Godfrey, Madison, Apalachee, Farmington, Bishop, Watkinsville, and Whitehall.

MACON-THOMASTON, including Wesleyan, Lorane, Knox, Bolingbroke, Smarr, Forsyth, Collier, Goggins, Blacksboro, Barnesville, Middlebrooks, Topeka Junction, Daniel, and The Rock.

ATLANTA-BARNESVILLE, including Fort McPherson, East Point, Hapeville, Forest Park, Army Depot, Morrow, Jonesboro, Orr, Hastings, Lovejoy, Hampton, Sunnyside, Caruso, Pomona, Highlands, Experiment, Griffin, Orchard Hill, and Milner.

Less-than-carload shipments between intermediate points on these routes will go entirely by truck. Shipments to many other points will also be faster by combining rail and truck schedules.

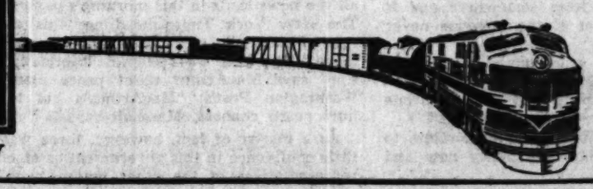

NONE TOO SMALL—You can use this new rail-truck service for all kinds of less-than-carload shipments—none too small. The Central will accept any freight offered and will not attempt to "pick" its cargoes. Regular rail freight rates apply on the trucks and all shipments move under railway bills of lading, with the protection, safeguards, and advantages to the public of railroad responsibility.

The Central's fleet of new trucks and trailers are manned by experienced drivers and are being operated in complete conformity with State and Federal regulations.

Not Altogether An Ill Wind

Two hopeful results of the MacArthur controversy already have become realities.

One is that the very clear exposition of this country's feeling—if not policy—has brought about greater support in the United Nations. Britain, France and Australia, which last week gave a cool reception to this country's proposal for an arms embargo against Red China, now have practically withdrawn their opposition.

The other is that Soviet Russia has been warned, in no unmistakable terms, by both President Truman and Sec. of Defense Marshall, that any extension of moves against our forces in Korea will bring retaliation. Sec. Marshall, who went further into the subject than the President, did not say where or in what manner retaliation would be effected. That is for Moscow and Peiping to guess. But there can be no mistake about this country's firming stand.

It is even more gratifying that the United States attitude is shared to an increasing degree by those who will be our allies in any conflict with Russia. This country cannot, as Gen. MacArthur so blandly assumes, afford to go it alone against the Communists. Our strength lies in the collective effort of all free peoples. To jeopardize the union from which this strength springs is to imperil our own future.

Nevertheless, it has become clearer—and here again the MacArthur controversy has played a big part—that there is growing impatience with the lagging feet of some of our allies. It was in an effort to stem this feeling that Britain, France and Australia decided to reverse their stand on an arms embargo against the Communist Chinese.

Both the President and Gen. Marshall gave sound reasons for the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur. We do not believe there will be serious question of the President's right, or duty, of doing so. And though the consequences of Gen. MacArthur's dismissal have split the country, the result has not been altogether unfortunate.

There can be no real comparison between the MacArthur plan and the Marshall plan for winning the war in Korea because the details of the moves the Secretary apparently expects UN forces to make in the future properly were censored.

There is no guarantee, however, that any plan will avert an all-out war. There are risks either way, though it would seem obvious at this time and in light of available facts, that Gen. MacArthur's formula would more likely provoke action by Russia. That is an eventuality that must, as President Truman pointed out, be avoided if at all possible.

In any event, it ought to be expected that remobilization of this country, and the free world, will be speeded to meet whatever threat Communism may pose. Only in this way can anyone justify the purchase of time with blood in Korea.

The Pulitzer Prize Award

With the announcement of the Pulitzer Prize awards for the year comes appreciation of the fact that able endeavor and production are recognized. But, also, there comes the disquieting feeling that the Pulitzer awards are, in some degree, at least, annually coming to have less and less meaning.

This year the committee ignored one of the greatest contributions to American history, the scholarly and magnificently written, "The Emergence of Lincoln," by Allan Nevins. Also by-passed was Henry Steel Commager's "The American Mind." We do not recall a year when more worthy historical books were published.

In other fields the committee followed the line of least resistance by splitting up the prizes into many sections. Certainly all of those so honored did well and merit honor. Some of them are our very favorite people. But, surely, someone must have done the best job within the meaning of the establishment of the Pulitzer awards. Also, in the field of public service there was a split, and again surely one of the both excellent examples of serving the public interest was better than the other.

Biography was a happy exception there. Margaret T. Coit's "Calhoun, an American Portrait," won the award.

The poetry award we thought grand. Here the committee acted forthrightly and gave it to Carl Sandburg. There was other excellent poetry during the year, but the committee wisely did not split the award into two or three segments.

We respectfully submit that the Pulitzer awards are being too often watered down and are losing meaning and prestige. Let's have the winners, and not a lot of artificially conceived dead heats.

Phenix City—Horrible Example of a Captured City

With the harsh and disturbing echoes of the Kefauver report revealing how the underworld goes about capturing a town and making of it a servile province still unpleasantly in our ears, Alabama's Phenix City offers itself as "Exhibit A" in the field of horrible examples.

Phenix City, across the river from Columbus, Ga., has been a tough, out-of-bounds sort of city for a long time. In its time it has licensed vice, either outright or by raids and fines collected at more or less regular intervals. It permits gambling and of course that gambling is, like the rest of it, crooked and designed to fleece the suckers. It was, and is, a town with a honky-tonk, corrupt, tough atmosphere, as its ministers and best citizens charge. It is, naturally, a hide-out and a haven for minor league hoodlums, pimps and the human lice who live on the body of vice and gambling.

Its population is about 20,000 and it has a municipal "government." This government frankly admits it exists largely off the cut from gambling and vice and other such activities. The city officials point out to the people that the residents are too poor to pay taxes to support the city if vice and gambling revenues are eliminated. Presumably it never occurs to them that the people would be better off if they operated under state control. But, at any rate, that was the issue . . . no vice and gambling—no city government. The city is poor because industry and business avoid it.

The other night the town held a rally to discuss the issue. About 1,000 persons attended. There was no telling whether the crowd was packed with dice dealers, call girls and others professionally interested. At any rate, speakers who urged that Phenix City go right ahead with its policy of "leniency toward illegal enterprises" were roundly applauded, and those who wanted a clean-up drew only mild applause.

City Commissioner E. E. Reese was quoted as saying he was not going to do what fanatics wanted done. Preachers, he said, were wonderful so long as they stuck to the Bible.

Presumably, ministers will be expected to preach about sin everywhere else but in Phenix City.

Here is something with which the State of Alabama is going to have to cope. The state surely has authority to appoint a special prosecutor and to have a change of venue and prosecute those who carry on these activities. A state officer stationed in front of all such dens would be helpful. Phenix City cannot be allowed to defy the law.

The State of Georgia and all other states bordering on Alabama have an interest in this city which lives off vice and gambling. It is a stop-off place for hoodlums, thieves, prostitutes, ring operators, and crooked gambling syndicates.

The nation can look and see a horrible example of what happens when government is captive to vice and gambling even though it be called a "policy of leniency."

Danger From Within

The Editors: Thanks for the editorial, "Don't Forget the Enemies Within."

Explanation Please

The Editors: Since the start of the MacArthur episode we have become used to the spectacle of all the pipsqueak columnists and editors following the Democratic Party line by attacking the general for his daring to disagree with the deep freeze, mink coat, Alger Hiss crowd.

Now, however, comes an individual who signs himself "40 Years an Officer" and who presents a multi-specification charge against General MacArthur, blaming him, in effect, for the whole Korean mess. Maybe this lower case Napoleon will enlighten your readers by telling them just how he would have avoided any mistakes such as he claims MacArthur made, assuming that he also had suddenly been called upon to handle, with green troops in limited number, the defense of an area which he had been previously advised by his superiors would not be defended; that supplies of winter clothing and equipment would not be forthcoming because of labor union tie-ups at home, and that his requests for more troops were denied.

He might also state how much of his 40 years' service was combat and how much swivel chair.

'Lower Than Worms'

The Editors: When irresponsible parents give liquor or beer to their young children, then they do not deserve any consideration, for they have violated not only a moral law but one of nature. They have become cheap human beings, and should be deprived of their children, and then sent to the chain gang for a number of years equal to the affected child's age. Only then can we stop this new (and to their narrow minds funny thing) abhorrent, repulsive, hateful and repugnant practice that has recently sprung up in Atlanta. Mothers and fathers committing such a hideous crime deserve to be punished immediately to the utmost because they have become lower than loathsome worms.

A New Twist On the Pretzel

If you are one of those cynics who holds that Congress is out of touch with the common people, take heed. The House of Representatives has officially recognized today as the 90th anniversary of that great American institution, the nonperishable pretzel.

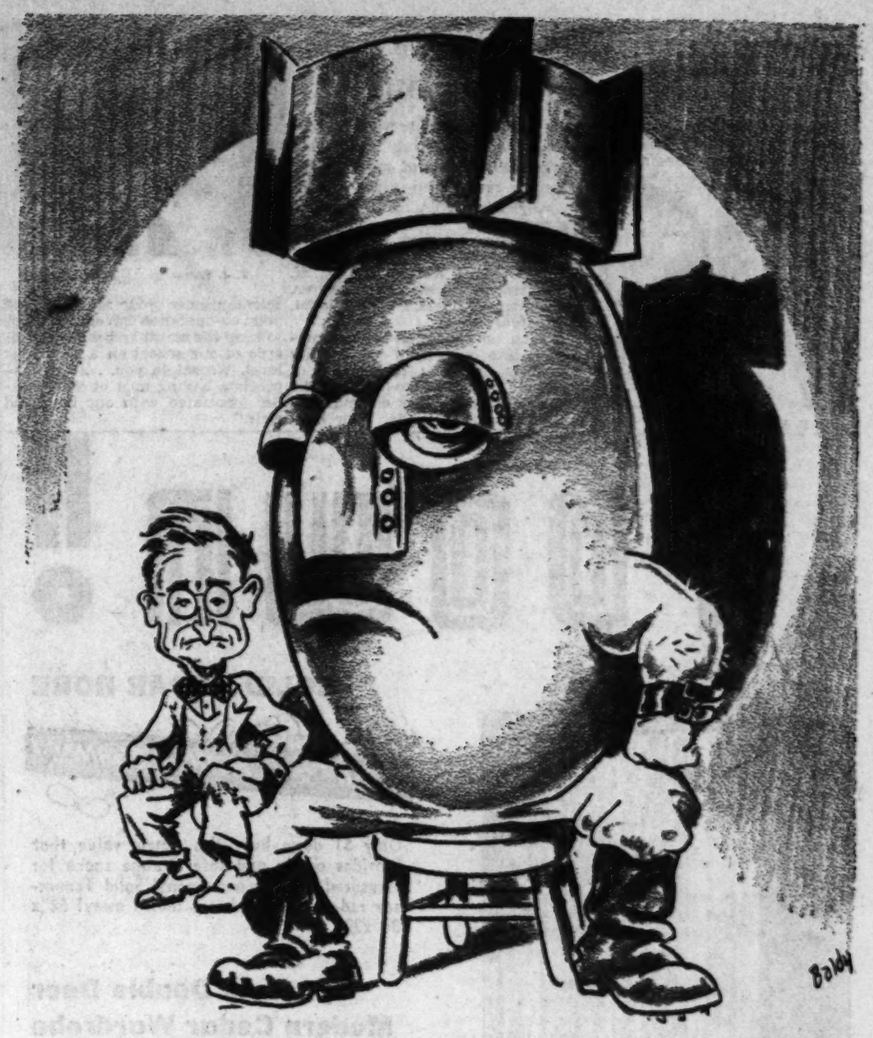

Yessir, Rep. Paul B. Dague Monday interrupted the great debate to expound upon the august floor of the House a theory in which the Generals MacArthur and Marshall and maybe even the Messrs. Taft and Truman conceivably could completely concur. The pretzel, according to Rep. Dague, is one of man's finest handiworks, particularly the nonperishable variety whose nonagenarianism we celebrate today.

The nonperishable pretzel? While it may come as a surprise to latecomers at the bar, the present-day pretzel was not ever thus. The pretzel itself reaches far back into antiquity, to be sure. Indeed, according to Rep. Dague, the ancient Romans used it, along with certain libations, as a symbol of victory and triumph. But the original pretzel was a poor thing measured by the yardstick of durability. After a few days it became as limp as a kleenex left long in the rain. Moreover, and this obviously struck at the very nature of its being, the pretzel was prone, in its softened condition, to lose its shape, becoming all unwound. This naturally struck sorrow in the hearts of pretzel makers, not to mention aversion in the mouths of pretzel fanciers who turned in great numbers to salted peanuts and potato chips.

Finally, however, on the fateful day, May 9, 1861, an unidentified baker in the until then unrenowned town of Lititz, Pa., evolved a formula which kept pretzels brittle for months, yea years, on end. As a consequence, U. S. consumption of pretzels has grown until today, as Rep. Dague pointed out in the halls of Congress Monday, "approximately 100,000,000 pounds of pretzels are made and consumed in the United States each year . . . more than the total displacement of our largest battleship the USS Missouri."

Obviously, as Rep. Dague declaimed so dramatically, the pretzel is a "national institution" which is definitely "not to be sneered at."

And I, for one, find it somehow reassuring that, even in these troubled times, the Congress of this great country can take time from its constant equivocating and appropriating to pay homage to that unbending symbol of good cheer, the semipermanent pretzel.

The Loudest Voice in the Great Debate

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

Putting Party Above Patriotism

WASHINGTON—Senate Republicans made a sorry spectacle of themselves in the fight they waged to throw the MacArthur investigating committee hearings open to the public. If the matter had been less serious, their performance would have been downright ludicrous.

The whole incident typifies politics at its worst. It comes as a sad commentary on our political system that some members of the highest legislative body in the land will go to any extremes to build up an issue in the hope of winning an election.

Among those who voted on the question, Republicans put up a solid front in favor of the hearings being held in open session. They were willing to do this despite the warning from top military sources that such a course would be fraught with grave danger to our national security.

The attitude of the Republicans was that national security be damned, if it interfered with their plans to exploit the MacArthur issue to the fullest.

The Beginning To appreciate what happened it is necessary to go back to the beginning. The little known story is this: The day after President Truman ordered the dismissal of General MacArthur as Far Eastern commander Republican members of the Senate armed services committee petitioned Senator Richard B. Russell, committee chairman, to investigate the ouster. After a huddle with some of his Democratic associates and Republican members of the committee Senator Russell agreed to undertake the inquiry, with the general to be called as one of the first witnesses.

Both sides agreed that, for national security reasons, the hearings should be held in executive sessions, with the public barred. The only exception made was that General MacArthur be permitted to testify in open hearings, if he requested it. To the general's credit, it may be said that he never did make such a request.

What was to be accomplished by a formal congressional investigation was never made clear, in the first place. No sober person could question the President's right to act as he did. His reasons for relieving the Far Eastern commander were well within bounds and carried the support of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as well as Secretary of Defense George Marshall and practically every other top government official.

Nevertheless, General MacArthur being the popular hero he was, there was a widespread clamor for a full-scale inquiry. Accordingly, Chairman Russell called a meeting of his committee to consider the matter. The committee met and it was unanimously agreed to conduct closed hearings for the security reasons involved. It was a Republican member of the committee, in fact, Senator Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, who first made the suggestion about the need for holding the hearings behind closed doors.

The Fuse That was before General MacArthur made his dramatic speech before Congress. The speech changed Republican plans and strategy. They thought they saw an opportunity in the emotional binge set off in the country by the general's return to the United States after his long absence of 13 years. Instead of going along with their original purpose for quiet, dignified hearings behind closed doors, they reversed themselves and demanded that the inquiry be thrown open to the public.

The purpose of all this was only too apparent. They wanted to keep the deposed general in the spotlight, with all the trappings of radio, television and kleig lights coming into play. National security reasons impressed them not at all.

In an almost unprecedented action to instruct a Senate committee on how to conduct its affairs, they sent a series of resolutions to the desk to force public hearings. Fortunately these were defeated by an almost strict party vote.

The Bill Is Bigger, Too

Women's feet are getting bigger! For that we have the word of a woman. Julia Dyar—"Jottings by Julia" in Husband Hubert's Royston Record—quotes a shoe designer named Delmar (not to be confused with Dagmar) as saying that the average female foot has grown about two sizes in the last generation. In grandma's day, the average size was five. Julia says her grandmother wore, and still wears, a four. But now only three women in a hundred wear a size five or smaller whereas 40 in every hundred who go into a shoe store come out with an eight or larger. Which proves one of two things—the modern woman has a larger foot or grandma wore her shoes away yonder too small.

In either case, the statistics show that when the little woman puts her foot down today, it carries more weight than it did in grandma's day.

And of this one thing we're sure—the bill from the store is more than two sizes larger than the one which came to grandpa a generation ago.

For instance, cites Mr. Morris, the paper stated the other day that a colonel was "shot in the ticket office" while another journal reported a man as "shot in the suburbs" and still another said, "He kissed her passionately upon her reappearance."

All of which suggests a wire story Parker Lowell, "poet low-rate" of the copy desk, called to our attention. The dispatch said something close to this: He was hurt in a collision involving a boy riding a scooter and three automobiles.

Peace Charge Unfair to MacArthur

New York Times News Service. Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 8—The testimony of Secretary of Defense Marshall has created one impression that is regarded here by persons familiar with the circumstances as unfair to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur.

This impression, induced in large measure by the headlines in this morning's papers, was that Gen. MacArthur last March had spoiled a good chance to make peace with the Chinese Communists.

The facts of Gen. Marshall's statements were as follows. He testified that President Truman had planned last March to make a public appeal to the Chinese Reds for peace in Korea. He said that the terms of this appeal were being negotiated with the other nations having troops in Korea, and that, on March 20, Gen. MacArthur had been advised of these facts.

Gen. Marshall then recalled that, after Gen. MacArthur received the notification from the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the forthcoming peace appeal by the President, he (MacArthur) had issued a much tougher peace appeal of his own, minimizing the power of Red China and implying that if Peiping didn't make peace, the United Nations could bring about Red China's military collapse.

"At the time the foregoing statement (MacArthur's) was issued," Gen. Marshall said Tuesday, "the clearance of the proposed Presidential declaration with the other 13 nations having forces in Korea had very nearly been completed. In view of the serious impact of Gen. MacArthur's statement on the negotiations with these nations, it became necessary to abandon the effort, thus losing whatever chance there may have been at that time to negotiate a settlement of the Korean conflict."

This last paragraph was the source of almost all the news leads in this morning's papers. Thus, The New York Times headlines this morning was: "Marshall says M'Arthur upset peace move." The New York Herald Tribune's: "Marshall says MacArthur upset peace plan." The Washington Post's: "MacArthur's bid to Reds hurt peace chances, Marshall says."

As a matter of fact, however, there was very little confidence in this government or among the representatives of the other nations who were discussing the President's peace appeal that it would do any good. The negotiations on the peace appeal went on here. They were based on a draft paper presented to the 13 other nations fighting in Korea by Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and the general attitude among the negotiators was that the peace appeal probably wouldn't impress Peiping.

Gen. MacArthur's own peace appeal, coming in the middle of the negotiations for the Presidential appeal, was a great embarrassment to the U. S. Government, no doubt. The negotiators of the other governments concerned did not understand how it could happen that the State Department would enter into protracted negotiations with them on the precise words to be used in the Presidential appeal and then find its own military commander beating the gun with a totally different proclamation without even asking his own government, let alone the United Nations.

The point is, however, that, while he embarrassed his government and angered his allies, Gen. MacArthur did not precisely ruin a good chance to make peace because nobody here really believed there was a good chance to make peace.

There were two reasons why the negotiators were not inclined to believe that the President's appeal would get anywhere: first, the Chinese Communist offensive was pretty well organized by that time, and second, the draft of the President's statement actually offered the Chinese Communists less than the terms that Peiping had rejected in January.

In fairness to Gen. Marshall, he merely said that the MacArthur peace appeal had lost "whatever chance there may have been at that time to negotiate a settlement of the Korean conflict."

But in fairness to Gen. MacArthur, it ought also to be said that while his appeal of March 24 was generally regarded as perhaps his most flagrant assumption of civilian authority, it did not really lose a very hopeful chance of negotiating peace.

Only One in the Big Wide World

In 1860 Mark A. Cooper, a prominent Georgian who represented his district in Congress and who established the state's first large rolling mill, erected this monument as a tribute to 38 friends who had helped him survive the panic of 1857. It is in the public park in Cartersville, and is said to be the only monument in the world dedicated to friendship. Near Allatoona Dam, the remains of an iron furnace are a monument to the enterprise of this early industrialist.

Lovely Escape From Reality

This is a time of flower profusion and a love of it. The fragrances and the colors blend into a harmony no one can resist. Number One is the old country rose, the Paul Neyron, with its real rose smell. When you think of the fragrance known as the rose you are thinking of the Paul Neyron whether consciously or not. I suppose our country rose bush is 50 years old, at least. It was here when we moved here and this was in 1927. I recall Grandpa Hammond saying he had not planted it as he did the trees (which shelter our home) in 1867. Someone with a heart planted the fragrant bush and it is still here, giving pleasure to all who come up or down the road. And especially to those of us who live here.

It is a nice thing to plant or transplant a rose bush. Especially in a time of stress. You come down the road, get a smell of the roses, your mind is relieved of everything but pleasantness.

For a moment you forget the unsettled condition of the world and bathe your soul in a profusion of loveliness. It is a lovely escape from reality.

This sort of thing happens with the honeysuckle, now beginning to blossom. One minute it isn't there and then suddenly it is there and you are the benefactor. The inventor of the honeysuckle knew his business. It flourishes without help, almost overwhelms with its fragrance, and grows the year-around. It is a splendid gift from a gracious Giver.

Our multiflora roses are bounding along at a great rate. About 30 of the 1,500 are blooming. We use the cuttings for fencing. It is but a question of time until all our fences will be made of this prickly rose bush. It grows so dense there is no animal that cares to try to make its way through a fence of multiflora.

In 1930 I planted some 12-inch privet. Today we have a 12-foot privet hedge, shutting off the road from the house we live in. It, too, is fragrant, although not at this time of the year.

This will come later. Meanwhile, it's a beautiful world.

JOHN GUNTHER

Heading Straight for a Showdown

Editor's Note: The John Gunther book, "The Riddle of MacArthur," which was written before General MacArthur was relieved from duty by Mr. Truman, provides an interesting reflection on the General in view of recent developments.

The MacArthur Formosa trip was too much for Washington to take. After all it is the function of the President, not of any theater commander, to make foreign policy. Mr. Truman sent Averell Harriman out to Tokyo. Harriman made the trip out to Japan and back in five days. There followed much bleary face-saving. Harriman announced that the administration leaders had, after all, known of the MacArthur trip beforehand (but not exactly when he was going) and that it was "entirely natural" that the supreme commander should want to visit Formosa. The American attitude to Formosa, Harriman said, was unchanged. Then on Aug. 10 MacArthur issued a statement in his most furious vein. He said with aggressive emphasis that his visit to Formosa was "limited entirely to military matter." "My visit," the general stated, "has been maliciously represented to the public by those who invariably, in the past, have propagandized a policy of defeatism and appeasement in the Pacific."

This uproar had important repercussions abroad. In important organs of the London press came editorials under such titles as "The Menace of General MacArthur." In reply the supreme commander issued another indignant statement, this time directed against London, and protesting at the attempt of the British government "to arrogate to itself, under the guise of membership in the United Nations," the right to pass judgment on "the propriety of the mission of an American officer."

Later there came another explosion between Mr. Truman and MacArthur. The supreme commander had written a statement of some length on Formosa, as a message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The release date was Aug. 28.

An alert newspaperman got hold of it and called it to the attention of the White House. This was at midnight on Aug. 25. The White House was outraged, and so was the State department. Truman instructed Louis Johnson, then the secretary of defense, to order MacArthur to eat his words, i. e., withdraw the message. This the general proceeded to do—though not with much grace. But it was too late, because one magazine had already gone to press with the full text.

The MacArthur statement was, in itself, not as sensational as all the fuss made over it. It sketched the geographic position of Formosa in relation to the defense of the Pacific. The general did not specifically state that the United States should remain in Formosa for keeps, but this was strongly implied.

Mr. Truman had for a long time wanted to meet in the flesh this man, MacArthur, about whose spirit he knew so much. One reason was simple curiosity; another was that an exchange of views would be profitable. Initiative for the meeting came from the President. He went to MacArthur, not vice versa.

The meeting took place on Wake Island, in the shabby, primitive quarters of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, on Sunday, Oct. 15, 1950. The atmosphere was cordial. Truman and MacArthur talked for an hour privately first, and then for two hours with their advisers. A communique was drafted, which was initialed (as one reporter on the scene described it) by both men "as if they were heads of different governments." Later the general seemed to be restless and in a hurry to get away. It was a shock to almost everybody that the proceedings were brief.

The President said as he departed, "I've never had a more satisfactory conference since I've been President." MacArthur refused to talk to reporters, with the words, "All comments will have to come from the publicity man of the President."

We return now to Japan. Japan surrendered unconditionally to the general's forces, but no peace treaty has been signed. MacArthur wants a peace treaty with Japan. He is shrewd enough to know that SCAP cannot continue to rule Japan indefinitely. In fact, he is on record as having stated, some years ago, that the ideal period for occupation would be three years, and that under no circumstances should it last longer than five. Why then has no treaty ever been negotiated, much less signed?

This question can be answered in a single sentence. There is no peace treaty because nobody has been able to work out a formula which will enable the United States to withdraw while at the same time maintaining Japanese security, which means security for Japan in the first instance, but also security of us, the United States, in the Far East. The issue is a heavy personal trial for MacArthur.

Family Problems Stay the Same

This being National Family Week we pushed our family out the door (if anybody devises another way for getting them off to school and work we'd like to be notified) and rushed down to the Family Service Society to find out how other Fulton and DeKalb County families are weathering life these days. We had some sort of foggy idea of doing a piece about the effect of war fears on children. But to our surprise all the dozens of children and parents who come into the Family Service Society to get professional help in ironing out difficulties are not sent there by the fact that the mailed fist of war has suddenly been plunged into their family life. There are war problems, to be sure. Many Atlanta families have endured separations and children are bedeviled, maybe more than adults know, by secret fears of death and loss. But by and large, Fulton and DeKalb County families are beset by the ancient and undramatic problems that have historically worried families—money, drinking, jealousy, in-laws, illness of one kind or another.

"Just normal problems," grinned Miss Marjorie Adkins, a serene, smiling caseworker who specializes in working with children. The only thing that changes about these problems apparently is the method of dealing with them and the Family Service Society works calmly and unemotionally the year round helping folks to find their way through routine mazes.

War fears, however, may come to Atlanta children when Civilian Defense authorities launch air raid warnings again and bombing drills becoming necessary. Teen-agers are, of course, already caught up in the difficulty of being unable to plan for education, a career and secure family life when the greater likelihood is that military service will postpone or disrupt their best efforts to plan.

Children, in any period, Miss Adkins pointed out, are taught the meaning of fear by their parents. As long as these instilled fears are "real fears" and are not "overly exaggerated fears," they form a natural, even healthful part of a child's emotional growth.

"Parents have as much reason to give their children a sense of the dangers of war and invasion as they do instilling in them a fear of fire or being run over by an automobile," Miss Adkins said. "What we need to guard against is overestimating the danger to the point where hysterical or irrational action takes over. We also need to understand that while children inevitably reflect parental tension and anxiety, their reactions may be quite different from those of adult members of the family."

Babies under two years, for example, have no understanding of war, but if a mother is anxious, hurried or frustrated she transmits her tenseness to her baby. The most damaging experience for a baby, the Family Service Society believes, occurs when war or other cause separate a baby from his mother. In London, during the last war, studies revealed that babies who remained with mothers during the bombings showed far fewer personality problems later than those infants who were removed from their mothers to "safe" places in the countryside.

Evidences of "increased aggression" reported in children of nursery school age are not due to "war talk" but to the frustrations in family life during a defense period, Miss Adkins said. These include crowded living conditions, increased tempo in family living with increased pressure on the child to hurry and less expression of love and affection.

Children need to feel a part of family life, Miss Adkins said. She quoted an Army youngster who was brought to her with another problem as saying she hated the frequent moves her family had to make during her adolescence but she appreciated and felt secure in the knowledge that when a move was going to be necessary her family would talk it over with her. Knowing of the necessity ahead of time and knowing the reasons helped her to weather being uprooted each time.

Even the experience of loss through death, if it comes to a family, must be shared with children, the caseworker advises. Parents err when they think they are sheltering their children by keeping them from funerals and not discussing the fact of death with them.

Decatur Civitan Club's Merit Award for outstanding achievement by a club member went to Fred C. Bose at the annual Ladies' Night program Tuesday at the American Legion home in Avondale.

Bose, an insurance man, received the award in recognition of his work with the club's "Nurse's Fund Foundation," set up to aid DeKalb girls to obtain nursing training.

Two Decatur Boys' High School students received defense bonds for winning first and second place among students from throughout the county in a Civitan-sponsored essay contest on citizenship. They were Charles Taylor, first place, a $50 defense bond, and Jimmy Leathers, second, a $25 bond.

Lee Field, of the Eastwood Civitan Club in Atlanta, installed Boyce Outen as president of the club for the new year. Other officers installed were Fred Bose, first vice president; A. A. Franklin, second vice president; Harley Brown, secretary-treasurer, and Ira Melton, assistant secretary-treasurer.

W. E. (Bill) Zachary is retiring president of the 27-year-old club—Decatur's oldest civic club.

Margaret Harris Day

It was "Margaret Harris Day" Tuesday at W. D. Thompson school in DeKalb County and a happy birthday for the woman who has been principal there since the school was built in 1929.

Teachers, parents and children turned out in strength to honor the 49-year-old Mrs. Harris, who has guided the growth of the school from an enrollment of 75 to 290 and the teaching staff from three to 12.

Mrs. Harris was presented a silver tray and a white orchid—a gift from the PTA and students. The youngsters also recited a series of jingles, telling of the school's history since 1929.

Among those attending a birthday luncheon were Julian Harris, her husband; Mrs. John Rankin, her mother; Mrs. William Rankin, a sister-in-law; DeKalb School Superintendent J. D. Cherry and other DeKalb school officials.

Among those getting awards were Steve Johnston, named best senior military cadet; Lucien Tatum, named best second-year cadet; Mike Long, best first-year cadet; Bill Rawlins, honorary best senior military cadet, and Alan Forbes, most efficient cadet, both militarily and academically.

In all, 65 awards were made, including five to members of the ROTC rifle team, which won third place in a national match. Receiving rifle team awards were Tatum, Neil Fagan, William Lester, John Newsome, Jack Atkinson.

Snappy drills highlighted the competition to determine the top unit awards.

Lift Packages The Easy Way

If a homemaker had a nickel for every heavy package she's lifted, the price of living would not seem disaster. No nickels are offered, but advice to make heaving your grocery harvest from car to kitchen easier comes free.

Rules to make lifting less back-breaking are:

Never try to lift beyond your strength. Make two trips if necessary; get help when needed.

Crouch down to the package; never bend from the waist.

Get a firm footing.

Get a firm grip . . . underneath the package.

Once you've lifted the package, carry it with your back in a vertical line not bent around the package.

Avoid twisting motions; shift your feet so that you can lift, pull or push straight up.

Use your leg muscles in lifting. This takes strain off the back.

Keep the package close to your body. Your capacity to lift will be increased.

Never lift, if you can push or pull.

EXPERIMENT ALICE

Fiancee Adds Beachwear On Business Girl's Budget

By ANN LAWRENCE

"I want a good-looking beach wardrobe on a business girl's budget," Alice, our young bride-to-be, stated hopefully, as she started the search for her honeymoon trousseau.

Limited packing space (she and Jim are flying to their destination) and a limited budget (she's a working girl, remember?) confronted her.

A co-ordinated outfit of separates, five pieces in all, should be the basis of her wardrobe, Alice decided. She found a sleeveless top and mile-around skirt in matching material and color—blue-and-white checked tissue gingham, trimmed with navy. The outfit had two pairs of shorts, snug "little boy" ones and bloomer shorts of the same checked fabric.

June brides-to-be will find this series Experiment Alice helpful in getting themselves "in shape" for their wedding day.

Another topper, this one of solid navy, sleeveless and tied on the shoulder with bows, can be worn with either pair of shorts and atop the checked skirt.

From these five pieces, Alice can assemble four different beach outfits.

Now for her important purchase, her going away suit. It should be Summer-weight, simple but not severely tailored. Above all, it should be flattering. Alice found the correct answer; a gray-blue silk shantung sheath dress with a long-sleeved bolero jacket. For traveling, it would pass for a serviceable suit. For "dress up," the jacket comes off and the silvery sheath passes as a short formal.

Two daytime cottons were added. One is a shirtwaist type of men's cotton shirting, with long sleeves that can be pushed up above the elbow. Smart details are its convertible collar and slit pockets at the hipline.

Crisp pique separates, a wesskit-type blouse with cap sleeves and a full skirt with huge patch pockets, in navy blue, were the final choice. She will wear the skirt with a halter top; team it with a white shirtwaist; and top it with a sheer blouse in late afternoon.

Tomorrow: The Happy Ending.

Washed Wools Attract Fewer Hungry Moths

By SCARLETT BLANTON

Synonymous with the advent of Spring comes its persistent nagging little sister, Spring Cleaning.

And included in that Herculean task is the unlovely job of packing away one's Winter woolies.

To help you do the job thoroughly, efficiently, and with as little bother as possible, we wish to advance a few tips from the experts.

In the first place, long before those woolens are snuggled cosily among the moth balls for a long Summer's nap, they must be painstakingly cleaned. There's nothing old brother moth likes better than to find a spot of chocolate or chicken gravy on the front of a sweater. The surest guarantee is to wash all of your sweaters before putting them away. You won't be sorry for the little extra work, and a mothless Winter will be more than enough reward.

Before dunking a sweater, outline it on paper, so that you may use this as a guide in shaping it while it dries. Sweater stretchers or drying forms, bought to size, will save many minutes of drying-time.

To preserve the shape of the necklines and cuffs, sew elastic thread through the wrong side of the ribbing. You can leave the elastic thread in, even after the sweater dries.

SEAL WOOLENS
Put moth crystals inside.

Never wash wool garments in hot water is perhaps the most important single rule in sweater-washing. Otherwise you end up with a matted wisp of a garment that you can't even squeeze into. Never rub or scrub a wet sweater . . . squeeze the suds gently through it with your hands. And above all, never leave sweaters or other woolens soaking.

Rinse garments at least three times, but never in completely clear water; always have the final rinsing water slightly soapy. This will not only help the wool fibers to retain their natural oils, but will also help prevent colors from streaking.

And now, on to the packing. Most wool experts agree that one of the best moth preventatives is paradichlorobenzine (a $64 word, indeed) which may be purchased at any reputable pharmacy. Sprinkle the crystals in tissue paper, or do as one smart girl does and put them in the foot of a discarded nylon stocking.

Then fold away your sweaters and other wool garments in wrapping paper, individually. Seal them with tape, and make sure that the package is absolutely airtight. As far as paper is concerned, some like the clean, woodsey scent of cedar paper, some use plain wrapping paper, and a surprising number of homemakers swear by newspaper. It's not so much that moths don't like to read, as it is something about the scent of printers' ink that discourages them from gnawing into newspaper-wrapped bundles.

Women Keyed Many Phrases In Use Since Pioneer Days

In the University of Chicago's two-volume 2,000-yage "Dictionary of Americanisms" quite a few women prove to have survived the test of time. The dictionary of 50,000 Americanisms includes words coined in America, as well as words to which the nation has assigned new meaning.

Amelia Bloomer, early feminist, is probably the best known. In 1851 she advocated a new style for milady, consisting of pantalets and a loose coat, which for her day was more sensational than Bikini swim suits.

Alice Longworth's dress of a greenish-blue hue chosen for her father's inauguration introduced into the American language "Alice blue." Gibson girl . . . though that's a man's name, for the artist was Charles Dana Gibson . . . identifies the prototype of American beauty in 1890.

An American actress' portrayal of the Russian princess, Fedora Romanoff, brought the term fedora to the American vocabulary. A hat manufacturer, impressed by the play and the actress, named one of his hat lines for the princess.

Dorothy Perkins gave her name to a famous rose. The Jukes sisters, New Yorkers in the eighteenth century, became Americanisms after a psychologist used their names fictitiously in a study of tendency to crime, immorality, disease and poverty. Along with the Kallikaks, these sisters have been subjects for conversation since 1877.

Coast-to-Coast Cookery

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD

This week's food editor from the famous Coast-to-Coast Cookbook is a person who has distinguished herself in foods writing as well as in radio. Winnifred Cannon Jardine, The Deseret News, Salt Lake City, writes of her people and their love of foods.

"Although many inhabitants of Utah are third and fourth generation descendants of the original Mormon pioneers (as I am) it is amazing to see the pioneer influences that have carried over to present-day homemaking. Folks out here are home-bodies. They love their homes and kitchens and spend a good deal of time in them. They want their homes and their foods to be of fine quality. They waste naught. Nothing is too much work if it makes for better food and better meals," she says.

"These recipes are a few that we consider most successful and typical of us. They have all been tested for goodness and accuracy," says Mrs. Jardine.

QUILTERS POTATO SALAD

- 3 large potatoes
- 3 hard-cooked eggs
- 4 tablespoons minced onion
- Salt and pepper
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons melted butter
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup hot vinegar
- 1 cup cream, whipped

Cook potatoes with their jackets on. Cool, skin, and dice. Add chopped hard-cooked eggs, onion, salt and pepper to taste. Set aside a few minutes before adding dressing. For dressing mix mustard, 1 teaspoon salt and sugar. Beat eggs with melted butter and hot vinegar, then combine with mustard mixture. Cook over boiling water or over low heat until thickened. Cool thoroughly. Combine with whipped cream and mix with potatoes.

"The only flour the pioneers knew was straight whole wheat flour. And while this recipe has been revised to use the modern yeast cake, still it has the old-fashioned ingredients of honey and molasses and all whole wheat flour. Certainly no loaf of bread could be quicker or more easily made," continues this food editor.

OLD-FASHIONED WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

- 1 yeast cake
- ½ cup water
- 3 teaspoons shortening
- 3 teaspoons honey
- 3 teaspoons molasses
- 3 teaspoons salt
- 3 cups milk, scalded
- 6 cups whole wheat flour

Soften yeast in water. Melt shortening and combine with honey, molasses, salt and scalded milk. Cool to lukewarm; combine with yeast mixture. Add enough flour to make a soft dough and knead thoroughly, using extra flour as needed. Shape into 2 loaves; place in greased pans. Let rise to not quite double in bulk (about 2 hours); bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 10 minutes.

"Anyone who ever eats at the Lion House Social Center, the home of Brigham Young, in Salt Lake City, has tasted these melt-in-your-mouth lemon pies that Angie Earl, the cateress, has made famous. Angie received the recipe from her little Scotch grandmother," reports Mrs. Jardine.

ANGIE EARL'S LEMON PIES

Pastry:
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ⅔ square butter
- ¾ cup lard
- ½ cup ice water

Sift together flour, salt and sugar. With fingertips break butter through flour into half-inch bits. Then break in lard making pieces half this size. With a flat knife cut in ice water, adding a little at a time. When dough forms into ball, turn on floured board and knead into a smooth dough. Roll into double wax paper and let stand in refrigerator overnight or longer if possible. Roll, cut and fit over backs of 12 muffin tins. Bake in 450-degree oven about 6 minutes.

Filling:
- 1½ cups water
- ½ cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ square butter
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup cold water
- 4 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 egg yolks
- 3 egg whites
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon lemon extract

Combine 1½ cups water, lemon juice, 1 cup sugar, butter and salt; bring to boil. Combine cornstarch with cold water, stir into boiling mixture. Cook over direct heat 2 minutes. Pour part of hot mixture over well-beaten egg yolks, then add to remaining mixture. Take immediately from heat. Beat egg whites until stiff, blend in remaining sugar and lemon extract. Add hot filling mixture at once. When cool, fill into shells and top with whipped cream.

Three Easy Steps To Best of Salads

There are three steps to a successful salad.

1. Always have the salad greens well chilled and crisp. They will be if you wash them quickly and gently in cold water, shake well, pat dry with cloth, then store in refrigerator crisping pan.
2. Never make your salad before serving time. Tear the crisped greens into bite-size pieces. Chop or shred all the additions at the latest possible moment. If you like the flavor, rub bowl with garlic.
3. Don't drown in dressing. Just before serving sprinkle with a small amount (two or three tablespoons, depending on size of salad) of French dressing. Toss salad lightly until each leaf is coated.

Household Wax Shoe Polish

Mothers who despair of the scuffed, greasy appearance of their children's shoes find an unexpected solution to their problem in the application of regular household polishing wax.

Children's shoes exposed to Spring showers while youngsters are en route to and from school acquire a good deal of water repellency as well as scuffing protection by this simple precaution.

In addition to providing protection, the wax furnishes a lustrous shine.

White shoes, hardest of all to keep clean, can best be protected with a coating of cream wax. Such protection has the further advantage of leaving no white powder to rub off on clothes and upholstery.

On saddle shoes it can be used to clean and polish both the white and colored areas.

Kids Get Chance On Willow Show

By PAUL JONES

There's a time—and place—for all things, even a kiddie revue. The time is 5:30 Wednesday afternoon. The place is the Woody Willow show on WSB-teevee.

Being the parent of a child who neither sings or dances in kiddie shows we have never relished the kiddie talent parades to any great degree. But, at the same time, we have recognized that parents do like to see their precocious offspring perform before an audience. And, we know there must be a time and a place for this sort of thing.

Without some means of expressing their talents many of these youngsters would go "undiscovered." Without the old Kiddie Revues the movies may have overlooked Janie Withers or Dixie Dunbar.

Woody Willow, a show which appeals to kiddies and to their doting mamas is just the right place for a kiddie revue. Woody not only gives his show a touch of variety by spotlighting the kiddies, but he gives the kiddies a chance to demonstrate their talents before one of the South's greatest audiences—the WSB-TV fans.

Taking part in the revue Wednesday will be Mary Bell McMichen, 8; a singing trio, Jeri Lynn Harrell, Pat Ray and Sandra Ray; Susan Lee, 7; John Joiner, 6; Jan Karp, 9; Ronnie Hanson, 7 and Patricia Elaine Harris, 9.

TOP TEEVEE TIP—The fight telecasts which come in one hour earlier—at 9 p. m. on WAGA-TV — each Wednesday night always provide exciting viewing for the home audience. Hard punching Bob Murphy, of San Diego tangles with Don Nardico, of Tampa, in a 10-round encounter from Chicago Stadium. Both fighters are in the light-heavyweight division.

RADIOWISE—A 17-year-old girl reporter who solved one of the most harrowing murder cases on record will be featured on the Big Story at 10—WSB-radio.

Mr. D. A. spotlights "The Keep Happy Case" during the broadcast at 9:30—WSB-radio, when a movie star with a sordid past is faced with embarrassing revelations when his ex-wife is murdered.

Fred Astaire and his old screenland sparring partner Bing Crosby trade verbal punches on the Groaner's air show at 9:30—WAGA-radio. Backed by Jud Conlon's Rhythmaires, they will sing "Never Been Kissed" and Teresa Brewer will chirp the lyrics to the musical marathon—"How Could You Believe Me When I said I Love You When You Know I've Been a Liar all My Life."

Dean Dickens' Ladies First show on WGST at 2:30 will feature three people who have played an important part in the success of the Cyclorama as one of the City's outstanding attractions. Joseph V. Lorenz, creator and director of the ground work at the Cyclorama; Weis Cain Snell, sculptor, who fashioned the foreground figures, and Mrs. Edith Chunn Hull, lecturer at the Cyclorama, will talk about the famous painting.

Groucho Marx returns to the airlanes for another of his delightful quiz sessions on You Bet Your Life at 9—WSB-NBC.

THE CONSUMER DOLLAR and Where It Goes will be the subject of discussion on the interesting Live and Learn show at 10 a. m.—WSB-TV. Dr. Lloyd B. Raisty, of the Federal Reserve Bank and Prof. J. Whitney Bunting, Professor of Economics and Finance at the University of Georgia, will take part in the discussion.

"Brief Music," a humorous story of three co-eds who room together in a girl's dormitory, will be presented on the Television Theater at 9—WSB-TV. Pat Crowley, Joyce Van Patten and Pat Kirkland will be starred.

Journalist Dorothy Thompson gives her views on defense and the public schools and British Actor Richard Greene demonstrates cooking with beer when they appear on Dorothy Doan's Vanity Fair Show at 1:45 p. m.

Expert Lists Key Points In Home Landscaping

By YOLANDE GWIN

Inspiration, coupled with detailed plant knowledge and endless patience, is usually accepted as the main requisite for the outside touches of your home, but the experts have a few suggestions which will go a long way toward beautification, for enjoyment, and most of all, for saving you a useless outlay of money.

For the couple, who plan to build, it's wise to call in a nurseryman and a landscape architect. Even though you may say you know "just what you want and how you want it," there are some points to remember.

Edwin Kellogg, of Douglas, new president of the Georgia State Nurserymen's Association, which closed a two-day session here Tuesday, has this to say:

"It's wise to call in a landscape architect before building, for the placement of a house on the lot will determine to a great extent what type flowers and shrubs the owner may grow. There is such a thing as climate control; plants that require sun or shade, some that are puny or healthy, should all be considered. The type of home has a great deal do do with the type of foliage a person buys."

"For instance, if one has a Georgian home, there must be the consideration of the balance and symmetry of plants. In all cases there must be the knowledge of the plant as to its ultimate size, its rate of growth, its vigor, color, habit of growth and its resistance to disease."

Kellogg advised against homeowners buying plants that are too large, and also rushing out buying plants just because they look pretty and are bargains.

"All plants look pretty, but the buyer must understand that certain things should go at certain places. For instance, don't buy a plant and set it out in front of a picture window and next season find that the window is completely covered by the plant's growth."

All home owners know what they want, the expert said. He added that it is advisable for the homeowner or even one planning to move into a home with a lot of yard space to "get the feel" of plants. He suggested buying small azaleas which can be coaxed along and then replanted later where they would be more desirable and prettier. Exposure to climatic conditions is another necessary element to consider, according to Kellogg.

He thinks that all homeowners and those planning a home who have any desire to have flowers and plants should remember that they'll get what they pay for, and it's advisable to pay for something good in the beginning, something that is appropriate and adaptable to the surrounding circumstances. Shrubbery, he said, is like other things—a good investment is insurance for the future.

CHILD-SIZE DENTAL CHAIR

"Children need hardly ever be hurt in the dentist's chair. Special scaled-down equipment helps do a better job with less pain."

This was the word from one of Atlanta's leading pedodontists (specialists in children's dentistry). He practices in a skyscraper suite of offices furnished with junior-size equipment to fit his junior-size patients. Any unsuspecting adult in these offices might feel like Alice after she drank the "growing" juice in Wonderland.

Drills in this dentist's office are very small.

"This reduces the heat and friction," he said.

The dental chair is designed for the very small child.

"We don't use the word 'drill' or 'needle' in our offices," said the doctor, "We use 'Food-removers' and 'bug-chasers'."

"The highest rate of tooth decay is found among children between 5 and 8, and between 12 and 18 years of age."

This is the grim word from the American Dental Association, which recommends children's dental care be operated along the same lines that pediatric preventive medicine works.

"The behavior problem of children in a dentist's office is one that needs attention," said one of Atlanta's leading children's dentists. "That's the first step in improving dental health. Parents should not wait until tooth trouble strikes a child. Bring him in early enough so a dentist can get to be his friend. Let him get used to our equipment and methods before we have to pull a tooth or grind out a decayed spot."

Three years of age is the proper time to start children's dental care, unless trouble is spotted before then. This is also the time it's well to start sodium fluoride treatments.

Sodium fluoride is the substance discovered to retard tooth decay in many cases. Applications of this liquid at proper intervals may save many a tooth that's waiting to ache.

"In caring for children," said the dentist, "We remember that the child's tooth is smaller than an adult's. So is his mouth. But the tooth nerve is already fully developed and consequently bigger in proportion to the tooth."

Though decay has not yet been entirely controlled, dentists know certain things that speed up the action of caries. Three rules are important to parents who consider children's teeth. These are:

See that the child has a minimum intake of sweets. Dental scientists know that the acid which attacks tooth enamel is formed by the action of bacteria on carbohydrates, especially sugar.

See that the child brushes his teeth immediately following each meal.

See that your child has the benefit of the application of sodium fluoride.

Auto Parts Shortage Feared by Dealers

By BILL BORING

How's the old jalopy fixed for parts?

And we're not trying to be facetious, for if your car is of average age—it's "old" all right!

The people who manufacture parts for automobiles and those who distribute them wholesale, in Atlanta for a regional trade meeting, say that today there are no middle-aged vehicles.

The automobiles on the road nowadays are either very young or very old, they say.

For example, of the 48,000,000 cars and trucks in the United States, more than 24,000,000 are over five years old.

This is understandable in light of the fact that from 1942 to 1946 there was no production of automobiles for the civilian market.

The venerable age of the average American automobile causes the manufacturerers of automotive parts much concern in this period of defense momilization.

Old cars need parts to keep rolling. Even the 1946 and 1947 models are in the repair market for pistons, rings, valves, springs and other functional parts.

What's worrying the parts manufacturers and wholesalers, according to C. C. Tapscott, president of the National Standard Parts Association, is Washington's attitude toward the "essentiality" of the automobile.

Tapscott, who is here to preside over the meeting of the parts people, says he is afraid Washington doesn't fully appreciate that the automobiles now on the road will have to be maintained if the American rearmament program is to achieve its goals.

He said the majority of defense workers will be dependent upon automobiles to take them to and from the war plants.

"Here in Georgia, with the Lockheed and the H-Bomb plants in your laps," the need of keeping the automobiles rolling is particularly pressing," Tapscott says.

Tapscott says he feels certain that the Washington agencies will see to it that enough parts and accessories are produced for maintenance of trucks, but experiences in World War II indicate there may be trouble in the automobile line.

Presently, there is no shortage of functional automotive parts, he says. "But the situation could change overnight should Washington stymie the production of such parts."

The National Parts Association meeting will be held Wednesday at the Biltmore Hotel.

Metal Marketeers

Look for the Office of Price Stabilization to crack down on gray marketeers of scrap metal in the Atlanta area. Currently, OPS men are investigating such a trade, which it believes has an Eastern outlet.

Elsewhere on the OPS front, James F. Hollingsworth, Atlanta district OPS director, announced that ceiling prices on new automobiles in effect since March 2 have been extended indefinitely and a formula has been provided by which sellers must reduce ceiling prices by actual costs when they eliminate the fifth tire and tube.

Ceiling prices of used cars and trucks remain frozen at prices listed in specified trade list books during the period from Dec. 19, 1950, through Jan. 25, 1951. New and used truck ceiling prices are frozen under General Ceiling Price Regulation at the highest prices in effect during the base period of Dec. 19, 1950, through Jan. 25, 1951, Hollingsworth said.

Hollingsworth also warned that restaurant operators who for some legitimate reason failed to meet the April 30 deadline with their OPS reports had better do so promptly. He said OPS men are currently checking restaurant operators in the Atlanta district.

Lint Output Danger

Urgently needed cotton textile production is in "grave danger" of being disrupted by lack of clear-cut pricing orders, Pres. Charles C. Hertwig of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Institute, said in Washington Tuesday.

He told Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle in a telegram:

"We in the textile industry are greatly disturbed that the textile order is not yet signed. The uncertainties in the market are forcing many of the mills into curtailed production with attendant loss of production and attendant loss of pay for people who work in this industry.

"We earnestly beg that you do everything possible to expedite the handling of this order."

Hertwig, president of the Bibb Manufacturing Company of Macon, issued a statement along with the telegram.

It said new business has been dropping off sharply since Jan. 26 when the original Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) freeze order took effect, and uncertainty is still holding up orders.

He pointed out that the mills normally sell their output six to nine months before the goods are made and delivered, and said operations since the freeze have been generally on business placed months ago.

Hertwig said there have been repeated assurances that price ceilings tailored to the peculiar conditions of the business would be issued soon, and orders have been held up awaiting those ceilings.

Senate Urged ToOkaySEPA Appropriation

Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman in Washington Tuesday urged senators to restore part of the appropriations for the Southeastern Power Administration slashed by the House.

Chapman said the House action in eliminating all of the $4,000,000 requested is "indeed serious." The money had been asked for planning and constructing lines and substations in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Headquarters for the Southeastern Power Administration is in Elberton.

Chapman's statement did not specify any particular amount he wanted the Senate to put back into the Interior appropriation for the SEPA. However, his aide, Ed Eardley, told a reporter that Chapman wanted $652,000 out of the $4,000,000. He said this included $422,300 for lines from Clark Hill on the Savannah River to South Carolina preference customers; $130,200 for the Roanoke River basin in North Carolina and $100,000 for general planning.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

HENRY FORD built his first car with nothing but his hands and some scrap material. Today, technology has advanced so far that it usually takes millions worth of equipment to prove that a new automotive idea has value. A tremendous hurdle for the independent inventor!

THE WRIGHT BROTHERS designed their first plane with the help of a foot-square, homemade "wind box." Today a man with a new idea in plane design needs a supersonic wind tunnel costing millions. How can the individual inventor get the use of such facilities?

An Invitation to Every American Who Has an Idea for a Better Petroleum Product

To encourage progress, The SINCLAIR PLAN will open the doors of the company's great petroleum laboratories to the best ideas of inventors everywhere.

INVENTIVE Americans are often hamstrung today. Not because of any lack of ideas, but because of a need for large and expensive facilities to find out if and how their ideas work.

This was no obstacle in our earlier days. With nothing but his own hands and a few dollars, Henry Ford proved to the world that he could build a gasoline automobile that ran. Eli Whitney built his cotton gin in a barnyard with homemade tools—and it worked.

Contrast this with the fact that the first pair of nylon stockings took ten years of research time, enormous laboratory facilities, and $70,000,000.

Today, science and invention have become so complex that a man with an idea for a better product often needs the assistance of an army of specialists and millions worth of equipment to prove his idea has commercial value.

Within the petroleum field, The Sinclair Plan now offers to provide that assistance—in the interest of both the inventors and ourselves, and of the millions who buy Sinclair products.

The Sinclair Plan

Under this Plan, Sinclair is opening up its great research and development laboratories at Harvey, Illinois, to independent inventors, wherever they may be, who have sufficiently good ideas for better petroleum products.

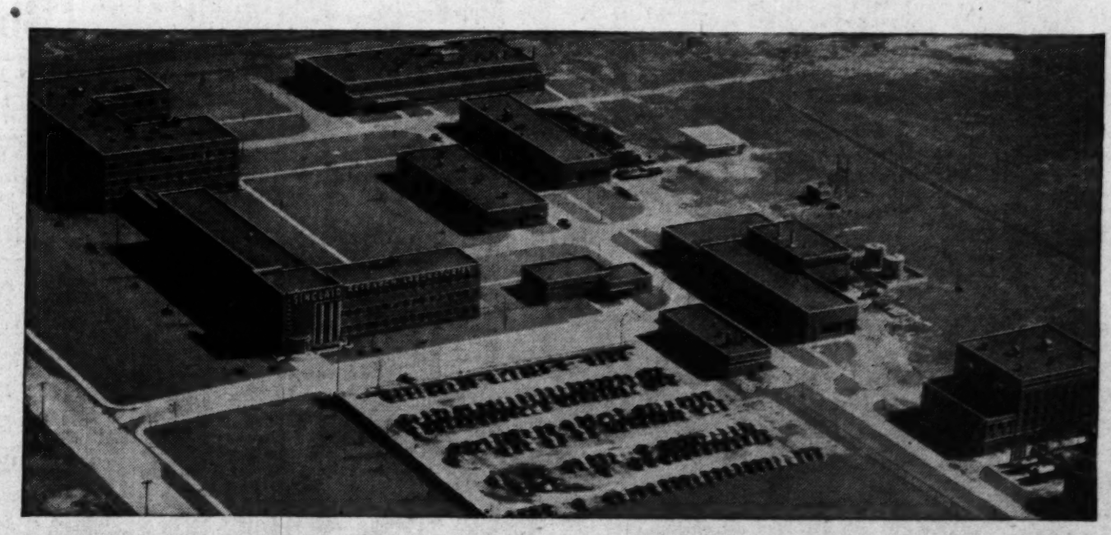

Sinclair Research Laboratories have nine modern buildings equipped to handle every phase of petroleum research. These laboratories were built with an eye to the future, and their potential capacity is larger than is required for current work. This capacity will be made available for developing the best ideas of outside inventors.

If you have an idea for a better petroleum product or for a new application of a petroleum product, you are invited to submit it to the Sinclair Research Laboratories, with the provision that each idea must first be protected, in your own interest, by a patent application or a patent.

If the directors of the laboratories select your idea for development, they will make, in most cases, a very simple deal with you: In return for the laboratories' investment of time, facilities, money and personnel, Sinclair will receive the privilege of using the idea free from royalties. This in no way hinders the inventor from selling his idea to other companies or from making any kind of arrangements he wishes without further reference to Sinclair.

How to Participate

Instructions on how and where to submit ideas under The Sinclair Plan are contained in a complete Inventor's Booklet that is available on request. Write to the office of the Executive Vice-President, Sinclair Research Laboratories, Inc., 630 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y. for your copy of this booklet. Important: Please do not send in any ideas until you have sent for and received the booklet of instructions.

SINCLAIR RESEARCH LABORATORIES at Harvey, Illinois, have contributed many of today's most important developments in the field of petroleum products, refining and production.

Under The Sinclair Plan, the available capacity of these great laboratories is being turned over to developing and proving out the promising ideas of inventors everywhere.

Beef Shortage Forecast Here But Prospects Good for Pork

Atlanta housewives Tuesday faced the bright prospect of cheaper hams and other pork cuts and the dark prospect of a possible shortage of beef.

The beef shortage is predicted by Atlanta cattle authorities on the basis of reduced cattle sales here and elsewhere in the state.

The prospect for cheaper pork developed as the hog market at the Chicago stockyards dropped fully $1.75 a hundred pounds below parity and best grades sold at the lowest levels since Jan. 2.

In the Atlanta cattle market, Cliff N. Ragsdale, sales pen manager, was moaning low because sales are one-third below normal. He estimated total sales this week for his pen would be as low as $50,000. Last week his sales totaled $117,000.

He blamed the empty pens in Atlanta on the recent Government order aimed at rolling beef prices back as much as nine to 10 cents a pound for the consumer.

Back to hogs: just when the drop in price at Chicago stockyards will be reflected at the retail level here is problematical.

"Hog prices at the stockyards," said a representative of the American Meat Institute, "might go up Wednesday or sink further. In any event, it takes anywhere from 10 to 22 days to cure, smoke and produce a ham for shipment out of the packing house."

The Institute spokesman also asserted that while housewives and other consumers have been complaining about the high prices of beef, they have been overlooking that pork has been a relatively good buy, especially in the last three or four weeks. Center pork chops in Chicago, he recalled, have been selling either less or around the retail prices prevalent before the outbreak of hostilities in Korea. Pork shoulders, he said, have been especially reasonable "in any place."

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—World and domestic sugar futures were steady Tuesday on Cuban and trade buying in sympathy with firmness in raws. West Germany was expected to purchase about 40,000 tons of Cuban raws with ECA funds.

World raws were quoted at 6.28 cents a pound FOB Cuba.

The spot price for domestic raw sugar advanced five points Tuesday to 6.30 cents a pound delivered on sales to cane refiners which were reported to have cleared the market of all offerings at that level. Details were lacking on the sales. Some dealers thought only a moderate business was done since offerings at 6.30 cents a pound were limited.

Demand for refined sugar showed distinct improvement. Industrial users were the principal buyers as the idea spread in consuming channels that prices will go higher. The refined market was generally firmly established at 8.25 cents a pound for cane refined and 8.05 cents a pound for beet refined. Discounts ranging up to 20 points under list prices were generally eliminated by refiners in the West and South.

The Cuban Sugar Institute reported sugar production until April 30 totaled 4,937,725 tons, compared with 4,831,754 same date a year ago.

Domestic sugar futures No. 6 closed five to six higher. Sales 457 contracts.

T-Bonds Slip In Light Trade

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Board stepped in Tuesday to support some longer maturity government bonds after most Federal issues had displayed sagging tendencies.

The bonds supported by the Board—longer maturity restricted issues which are ineligible for purchase by commercial banks—closed unchanged. The higher priced issues were the larger losers.

Trading was light and much of the activity involved apparent reconnaissance by dealers to find price levels at which specific issues might be traded freely.

Corporate bonds were mixed.

Sales on the Stock Exchange totaled $2,500,000 par value compared with $2,380,000 Monday.

Cotton Futures Close Steady

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—Cotton futures were steady Tuesday in quiet trading. Small mill buying and short covering found offerings limited.

The cotton trade has raised its estimates on cotton acreage to approximately the goal recommended by the Department of Agriculture—a boost of about 53 per cent in acreage compared to last year's restricted planting.

The Department of Agriculture estimated final production of cotton during 1950 at 10,012,000 bales of 500 pounds each, against production of 16,128,000 bales in the previous year.

Futures closed unchanged to 90 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

U. System's Bond Interest Ceil Adopted

All of Georgia's bond companies, jointly, and three out-of-state firms have agreed to take not more than 2.91 percent interest in their purchase of the second $6,000,000 worth of bonds from the University System of Georgia Building Authority.

State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., chairman of the Authority, Tuesday said the Authority would have to pay no more interest on its second loans than it did on the first $6,000,000 worth of bonds issued last year. Georgia's bonding houses jointly purchased the first issue, too.

Under the agreement, the Authority can benefit if the bonding houses market the bonds at a a lower rate of interest. On the other hand, the investment houses cannot charge the Authority more than 2.91 percent.

Thrasher said the following firms, which compose every bonding house in the state, have agreed to purchase the new issue:

Robinson - Humphrey Company, managers of the account; Clement A. Evans and Company, Johnson, Lane, Space and Company, Courts and Company, J. H. Hilsman and Company, Wyatt, Neal and Waggoner, Bryan, Brooke and Company, J. W. Tindall and Company, Milhous, Martin and Company, Stockton, Broome and Company, Varnedoe, Chisholm and Company, and Norris and Hirshberg, Inc., all of Georgia; Blyth and Company, Inc., of New York; Blair, Rollins and Company, of New York, and Equitable Securities Corporation of Nashville.

Chemicals Spark Rise In Stocks

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, May 8—The stock market reversed its trend Tuesday but the gains proved highly selective with the greatest force supplied by the chemicals. In fact, the advance of the chemicals was almost independent of the remainder of the list and accounted for a rise of 0.91 point in the composite rate.

Short covering in the favored divisions of the market coupled with a certain degree of institutional buying acted as the main impetus for the new forward thrust. Du Pont ran ahead more than four points with lesser increases in others in the same section but additions were much more conservative in the pivotal issues.

BRISK LAST HOUR

Activity expanded in the final hour and produced a slight lift in volume on the stock exchange which totaled 1,600,000 shares against 1,580,000 shares on Monday.

Du Pont, the outstanding feature of the session, finished at a new high for the split-up stock. The closing quotation of 102 represented a net rise of 4⅝ points. The previous split-up in this issue was four-for-one in 1949 and the low for those shares was 43¼ in that year. Allied Chemical scored an advantage of 1⅜ points at 70½. American Cyanamid reached a fresh peak of 103 on an addition of 1¾ points. Dow Chemical was ahead 2⅝ points.

RADIO ACTIVE

Radio Corporation, the most active issue of the day on 33,600 shares, reached 20⅛ and then finished at 19⅞ unchanged. Others in the radio-television group were mixed, with Motorola surrendering a point. United States Steel held stationary and Bethlehem was behind ¼ point at 55⅞.

Small fractional increases were posted for Chrysler, General Motors and Packard, with just the reverse in the rubbers, although Firestone backed down 1⅜ points. Some of the weakness in the rubbers was attributed to the general talk in trade circles of a world surplus in this product which might bring about a price reduction in this line of consumer goods.

General Tendencies — A good many changes will be noticeable today, particularly late in the afternoon. You may not think that your affairs are moving along too pleasantly during the morning but give them time. The last half of the day will change the story I do think, however, that money matters may be dubious throughout the evening—entertaining can be expensive or else you may leave some of your valuables in the dressing room if you are careless.

If It's Your Birthday—The best events immediately ahead seem concerned with outdoor activities, sports or possibly some travel. If you are going into the service you can have quite an eventful and interesting experience. There is also some indication here of scientific or technical work, the kind of thing which requires special training. You will count this year as one of your successful times even if you do not make much money from your various efforts.

High Schools To Graduate 2,000 Here

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Approximately 2,000 students will get diplomas from Atlanta high schools in 14 graduation exercises beginning May 17 and extending through June 1.

Roy Davis, assistant school superintendent, Tuesday told the board of education of the plans which he said will climax one of the most sucessful school years in history.

Although there was no public announcement about Dr. James F. Hackney, city health director, having been contacted as a prospect for the new post of school health officer which the board proposes to establish, it was reported that preliminary conferences have been held with Dr. Hackney.

The board adopted a resolution authorizing Miss Ira Jarrell, city school superintendent, to study the proposal and file a recommendation.

The board elected 483 teachers to start next September and elected 97 others to permanent tenure in the Atlanta system.

The board also approved several committee actions taken Monday night, including naming of architects for three new Negro school projects, installation of a payroll deduction system whereby employees may purchase bonds and set up $5,000 for purchase of foods at bargain prices for use in cafeterias.

Measures Signed

Acting Mayor Joe Allen Tuesday signed a large number of measures passed to the mayor's desk from Monday's meeting of City Council. Included in the list was reinstatement of beer and wine sales at the White Dot, 505 Ponce de Leon Ave., S. E., although City Attorney Jack Savage said a reinstatement would be in the same position as a new application insofar as observance of the 300-foot distance from a church is concerned. The establishment is said to be only 67 feet from the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Mayor Hartsfield is due back at his desk Wednesday after a trip to Washington.

Fulton Bag Tour

Several members of Council's Slum Clearance Committee including Chairman John White will inspect improvements in housing conditions at the Fulton Bag & Cotton Mills at 10 a. m. Thursday. White praised the company for being the first industrial group to comply completely with requirements for abolishing sub-standard dwellings. The organization has remodeled or built 325 new housing units, all of which meet city specifications.

Plumbing Meeting

Heated discussion over Atlanta's plumbing code appears imminent at a special meeting of Council's Public Works Committee at 2 p. m. Friday at the City Hall. J. H. Schofield, chief plumbing inspector, said he is inviting all operators of plumbing shops to be at the meeting. Atty. James F. Wynne Jr., representing a large group of non-union plumbers, promised to have from 300 to 400 at the meeting to protest "impossible" examinations, which he claims are demanded by the present examining board. Wynne said his group will fight to get two representatives on the examining board.

POLICE BLOTTER

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Billy E. Wells, 37-year-old former convict, Tuesday was held for suspicion of forgery after altering a postal money order, police said.

Wells admitted purchasing a $1 money order at the East Atlanta post office and then altering the $1 to $100, Ptl. C. F. Sikes and R. L. Peacock said. Patrolmen added he cashed the money order in the White Front fruit stand at 417 Memorial Dr., S. E.

Police were called in when an employee of the fruit stand noticed the one hundred spelled "one hunder." Records show Wells has previous convictions for forgery and larceny of an auto.

Serum Aids Amnesia

The second amnesia victim within a week Tuesday responded readily to injections of truth serum at Grady Hospital.

Policewoman Ruby Barrett said a young woman who appeared at the bus station was unable to give her name or address.

After the injection she told of fleeing her home in Andrews, S. C., because an estranged husband threatened her.

Bricks Recovered

Like the third little pig, Rufus Lamar, 65-year-old Negro wanted a house of brick and stone.

Dets. B. G. Holland and Y. H. Allen searched Lamar's present residence at 1028 Dimmock, St., S. W., and found an assortment of bricks, concrete blocks and roofing hidden about.

Lamar admitted taking the materials from a house under construction on Sparks St., S. W., detectives said. He was booked for suspicion of larceny.

Fined for Nonpayment

Eugene Henry Hudson, Jr., 25, of 1430 Fairbanks Ave., S. W., Tuesday was fined $18 and handed a $13 suspended fine in recorder's court in connection with a charge of failure to pay a restaurant bill.

Dets. R. A. Boone and J. E. Sikes quoted witnesses as saying Hudson entered the restaurant at 11 a. m. Monday and remained until near 4 p. m. Detectives said he protested payment of a $10 bill and telephoned several persons, including the police.

Recorder A. W. Callaway assessed an $18 fine for drunk and disorderly conduct and suspended a $13 fine for failure to pay a bill when Hudson agreed to settle the account. Detectives said Hudson identified himself as a government employee.

Couple Sues Theater for $150,000

By BILL DIEHL

Two suits, totaling $150,000, were on file Tuesday in Fulton Superior Court charging the Roxy Theater with negligence resulting in a painful fall to a patron.

The suits were filed by Mrs. Lucille Evans, of 1657 Alvarado Ter., S. W., and her husband, C. J. Evans. They named Atlanta Enterprises, Inc., as defendant.

Mrs. Evans charged in her petition that she tripped and fell over a damaged rug in the ladies' lounge of the downtown theater on Dec. 2, 1950, receiving injuries to her left arm and shoulder which resulted in permanent loss of the use of her left hand. She also charged that injuries to her spine were "excruciatingly painful."

Too Many Names

A Negro told Criminal Court Judge John C. McClelland Tuesday he sometimes "used two names—Eddie Brown and Eddie Bryant." The Negro was charged with vagrancy and violating the motor vehicle act.

Alert detectives informed the Judge that the defendant has a license listed under the name E. C. Brown and an auto registered under the name E. C. Bryant. Judge McClelland called for the fingerprint records.

Result: Brown, whose real name is Bryant, is now charged with a third offense—operating a vehicle after his license was revoked. The same Judge revoked Bryant's license a year ago for violating the motor vehicle act.

Plumber Appeals

Guy Dapos, 36-year-old plumber, of 732 Willoughby Way, N. E., posted a $1,000 appeal bond in Fulton Court Tuesday after receiving 12 months on two counts of "Peeping Tom."

Witnesses testified that Dapos, on several occasions, parked his auto in a parking lot near an apartment at 128 Eighth St., N. E., for the purpose of watching young ladies through apartment windows. Judge McClelland sentenced Dapos.

Earlier in Fulton Criminal Court, Judge McClelland sentenced two convicted lottery operators, James Tate, Negro, and James Gray, Negro, to four-month sentences on county prison farms.

Insurance Suit Hearing Resumed

U. S. District Judge Frank Hooper will resume a hearing Wednesday morning on a petition by Mrs. Julia C. Denson of Jasper, who seeks $10,000 in insurance from the Veterans Administration.

Mrs. Denson filed suit against the VA after that agency refused to pay off on two $5,000 National Service Life Insurance policies held by her son, the late Billie Eli Denson. The VA states policies had lapsed. Mrs. Denson contends they were in effect at the time of her son's death in 1947.

3,200 TO TAKE TRIP

First School Patrol Train To Leave Terminal Today

The first of five trains taking 3,200 Georgia school patrol boys and girls on the annual trip to Washington will pull out of the Terminal Station at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Some 600 youngsters will begin arriving from over the state early Wednesday to catch the first special, sponsored by the Georgia Motor Club. Mrs. Minnie Lou Collins, the club's safety director, will accompany the party.

Four trains, with about 2,500 children from the greater Atlanta area will follow on Thursday and Friday. Two carrying 1,400 youngsters from Atlanta, Decatur and DeKalb County will depart Thursday, and a record 1,275 Fulton County boys and girls will climb aboard two specials on Friday. All will return Sunday.

City School Superintendent Ira Jarrell and County Supt. Paul West will accompany their respective groups. Also 22 members of the Atlanta women's auxiliary will make the trip.

Fulton County Chaplain Bill Allison said the county school patrol members will be given a Sunday School lecture in Arlington Cemetery Amphitheater Sunday morning. The Hapeville School Band will provide the music, and Rep. James Davis will speak.

West Sees Easy Fulton School Shift

Shifting of 38 Fulton County schools to the Atlanta school system Jan. 1 as provided by the Plan of Improvement will be accomplished "with minimum difficulty and confusion," Paul West, superintendent of Fulton County schools, predicted Tuesday.

Addressing the Atlanta Civitan Club, West said:

"Everything has been harmonious to date—and I foresee no conflict."

He pointed out that Fulton County would lose 18,000 of its 36,000 pupils and 608 of its 1,216 teachers, but he said 46 schools would remain in the County school system.

West said Fulton County schools would have more money to spend per pupil since it would have two-thirds its present revenue for half its present number of pupils.

He pointed out Fulton County spent $137 per pupil last year—compared with the national average of $178 per pupil.

Fire Razes Hogansville High School

HOGANSVILLE, May 9—Fire still raging early Wednesday had caused an estimated $300,000 damage to Hogansville High School. Flames, which were first detected at 11:15 p. m. Tuesday, completely razed the old section of the school and had destroyed more than half of a new $150,000 wing.

Firefighters from Hogansville and LaGrange fought the blaze, but were handicapped by lack of fire plugs.

The U. S. Rubber Company in Hogansville coupled its independent water system into Hogansville's in an effort to raise water pressure.

A grammar school building and gymnasium nearby were not thought seriously threatened.

School Superintendent D. F. Osborne said insurance would only partially cover the loss. He said $20,000 worth of seats in the new wing, not yet put down, were lost.

An estimated crowd of 2,000 gathered to watch the blaze, visible for miles. There were no injuries reported.

A meeting of the Hogansville School Board, held at the school, had adjourned about 8 p. m.
